PETROGRAD TAKEN FROM BOLSHEVIKI,
OFFICIAL REPORT
AT PARIS SAYS

Notice Posted at Stock Exchange Announces Capture of City Before Which Defense Was Reported Entrenched in Two Strong Lines.

WORKMEN IN PLEA TO SPARE CAPITAL

Delegation Said to Have Offered Gen. Yudenitch of Northwestern Russian Army Support if He Refrains From Bombardment.

By the Associated Press
PARIS, Oct. 18.—The following notice was posted at the Stock Exchange this afternoon:

"Official: Petrograd has been taken."

Bolsheviks Reported Entrenched in Two Lines Before Capital.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

BEVAL, Estonia, Oct. 18.—The White Russians have taken Gatchina and Krasnoye Selo, the last strongholds between them and Petrograd. Gen. Yudenitch's army is now only 25 miles from that city. The Bolsheviks are reported to be entrenched in two strong lines outside of Petrograd. They have several army corps of regulars and several regiments of volunteers to throw against the on-marching enemy.

Workmen Reported Asking That Petrograd Be Spared.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—Gen. Yudenitch has captured Krasnoye Selo and Gatchina, south of Petrograd, where he met workmen from the city, who asked that the Northwestern Russian army refrain from shelling Petrograd, and, pledging, if this promise was given to join the anti-Bolsheviks, according to a Helsingfors dispatch received here.

The white flag was hoisted over the Bolshevik fortress of Kronstadt last night, according to a Helsingfors dispatch quoting a Finnish general staff report.

The Esthonians, operating in the coastal region along the Gulf of Finland, the official advice states, are within a few miles of Krasnaya Gorka, and are facing the fortress of Kronstadt.

In the center of the advancing line official information is that the anti-Bolshevik forces on Thursday pushed forward to a point three or four miles below Luga, 50 miles south of Petrograd.

Denikin Continues Advance.

Gen. Denikin appears to be advancing his left flank along the Dnieper Valley, taking Chernigov and moving northward toward Gomel, Siberia. The Cossack and Polish forces and present a compact front to the Soviet armies. If this junction is made, the anti-Bolshevik line from Petrograd to Orel, south of Moscow, would resemble a great horseshoe enclosing the Bolsheviks.

East of Orel and in the Don region the Bolsheviks are reported to be retreating all along the front. Denikin's troops have crossed the Don over a front 200 miles long, it is reported.

The body of Lieut. Edward J. Verheyen, aid to Capt. Dammann, was washed ashore near Tobermory, Ontario, a few days ago, being prepared for shipment to St. Louis.

Letts Announce Reception of Dunamunde Port Near Riga.

By the Associated Press.

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 18.—Premier Ullmann of Letvia telegraphed today from Riga announcing that the Letts on Thursday recaptured Dunamunde, the port at the mouth of the Duna, northwest of Riga, from the German-Russian forces.

The capture was effected after fighting of the fiercest character. The Letts also regained Boldera, south of Dunamunde, and reached Ilgesa, on the bank of the river. They took 500 prisoners.

Allied forces, telegram reported, supported the Letts' attack.

COMMITTEE TRIES TO BRING HARMONY AT LABOR SESSION

Labor Group Presses for Immediate Action While Others Offer Amendments Toward Compromise.

GOMPERS IN DRAMATIC PLEA FOR LABOR

Says Toiling Masses Know Their Rights and What Conference Decides Does Not Matter.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Renewing their demands that the issue of the right of workers to bargain collectively through their chosen representatives be disposed of by the National Industrial Conference, the Senate and House are taken up, the labor delegates urged the committee of fifteen today to report back the resolutions on this subject when the conference reconvenes Monday.

The resolutions drawn by the labor, public and the employers' group, respectively, were sent to the committee late yesterday for further consideration. The labor representatives pointed out that the resolutions already had been debated for two days and that nothing was to be gained by further delay.

"In the hope of satisfying both labor and capital on the question of how employees should be represented in negotiations with the employers, members of the public group in the committee submitted several amendments to the two resolutions today. One proposal was that labor representatives be duly 'certified' after a fair vote of the employees.

Harry A. Wheeler of Chicago, chairman of the employers' group, attended the committee meeting in the place of John J. Cusack. Wheeler is regarded as one of the most conciliatory of the employers and is most optimistic over the outlook for an agreement between labor and capital on the collective bargaining issue.

Chairman Lane conferred informally with committee members before the meeting today in an effort to bring together the extreme positions of the "right" and "left" factions in order to avoid a break.

The committee recessed while the labor and capital groups had separate meetings in separate rooms. Chadbourne said he was confident a deal of collective bargaining would be agreed upon unanimously. He did not think the issue would be sidestepped, adding that "the foundation must be laid before the building is erected."

Charles Edwards Russell, spokesman for the committee, said the various groups were getting closer together.

Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the public group, conferred with Chadbourne for a few moments, then left. The White House automobile in company with Rear Admiral Grayson, President Wilson's personal physician.

Samuel Gompers, leader of the labor group, was in New York today. Gompers' Dramatic Plea for Labor at Yesterday's Sessions.

Adjournment of the conference itself was taken yesterday until Monday.

Withdrawing their motion to recommit the labor-public declaration on collective bargaining, the employers took the initiative by offering a substitute resolution which would protect their rights "to deal or not to deal with men of groups of men who are not their employees."

Samuel Gompers brought a heated and eloquent reply to I. F. Luree, president of the Delaware & Hudson Railroad and a representative of capital. Denying the assertion of Luree, that labor had taken advantage of the war to force important concessions from the Government, Gompers declared that labor had been actuated by the most intense patriotism during the war and that labor had made good its pledge of co-operation tendered to President Wilson, even before the nation entered the conflict.

Gompers assailed Luree.

Gompers bitterly assailed Luree for his assertion that elements in American labor planned overthrow of the Government.

Luree demanded that the Government be given the same access to the records and correspondence of labor unions that it now has to those of corporations and that generally the same regulations that now surround capital be extended to the labor unions.

Adjournment without a vote on the collective bargaining issue was opposed vigorously by the labor men. Gompers demanded that the gathering remain in session "until the resolution is disposed of" and Daniel J. Quinn and W. G. Lee, the latter chief of the railway trainmen, held up the results of numerous strikes and sending strike news in absence hindering the outcome of the conference, to induce the delegates to take immediate action. Four members of the labor group—L. E. Shepard, John M. Donlin, T. A. Rickett and Joseph P. Valentine—voted with a majority of the employers and public

SENATE HOPES TO COMPLETE READING OF TREATY TODAY

Only One Important Amendment Remains to Be Disposed of Following Defeat of All of Fall's Suggestions.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Senate reading clerks today again faced the prospect of continuation of the reading of the treaty of peace. After many weeks before the Senate, the reading of the document is not yet half completed, but it was hoped to finish today.

Only one major proposal for actual amendments of its terms is now impending, the Johnson proposal to equalize the votes of the United States and Great Britain in the League assembly. The Senate unexpectedly reached a vote yesterday on the two remaining amendments to the treaty proposed by Senator Fall, Republican of New Mexico. The amendments which were voted down without a roll call would have limited the participation of the United States in actions of the reparations commission, a body set up under the peace treaty.

When the Senate convened today there came up under the rules a resolution by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, which would give it the sense of the Senate that whenever the United States becomes a member of the league of nations, the "state of affairs in Ireland and the right of its people to self-government" would be presented to the league council or assembly by the American representatives.

Action on the two Fall amendments came near the end of a session which had been enlivened by a sharp debate over the dispatch of American troops to Europe for service in connection with the Silesian plebiscite.

The Freshmen were compelled to engage in an undressing race. Lester Perrin said that he was slow and a flatiron was touched to his bare skin to hurry him. As a result, he finished second. Orville Brunner of Granite City won the race and received as prize a salty drink.

Paul Hitz, ordered to shake the alms盆, gave a performance satisfactory to his audience and escaped a paddling.

Prathna, a senior honorary society, recently summoned hazers and hazed and made a stenographic report of the incidents of the night to the faculty. The Men's Student Council, which has charge of campus discipline, considered the incident at a meeting today.

RECEPTION OF DE VALERA IS PLANNED BY IRISHMEN

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The Supreme Council today adopted a resolution that delegates of the great powers may sit on the various commissions created under the German peace treaty and may vote on questions before these commissions, whether or not their Governments have ratified the treaty.

SELPH PROPOSES THAT HIS SALARY BE MADE $12,000

Postmaster Tells Joint Committee That $8000 He Receives Is Not Enough to "Maintain Position."

DENIES POLITICS GUIDES ACTIONS

Asserts Employees Are Satisfied and That Complaints Come From "Walking Delegates of Bolsheviks."

By the Washington Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 18.—Postmaster Colin M. Selph of St. Louis, who has been in Washington since Monday on Postoffice business, told the Joint Congressional Commission on Postal Salaries that his position should pay $12,000 a year instead of the $8000 now allowed; that promotions in his office are made "absolutely on merit" without regard to position or to seniority, and that he is quite willing to have the St. Louis postoffice investigated at any time.

Selph, who presented a brief urging higher salaries for Postmasters, was closely questioned by several members of the commission.

"You pay no attention to politics?" asked Representative Moon, Democrat of Tennessee, when the question of promotions was under discussion.

"Absolutely not," replied Selph.

"Suppose," said Moon, "two men are equally efficient, match up in every way, and one is a Democrat and the other a Republican. To which one would you give the job?"

"Isn't that rather a personal question?" countered Selph. "No," said Moon. "We want to see how you feel on that."

"The world knows who I would give it to," replied Selph. "Well," said Moon, "I don't."

"I would give it to the Democrat," said the Postmaster. "Well, then," retorted Moon, "what is the use of saying there is no politics in this?"

"There is no politics," said "Walking Delegates of Bolsheviks."

Representative Steenerson, Republican, of Minnesota, chairman of the House Postoffice Committee, asked whether the clerks in the St. Louis office would sustain the statement that there was no politics in the making of promotions, and Selph replied that they would.

"Are you aware," then asked Steenerson, "that our mails have been burdened with complaints from the St. Louis office to that very effect?" From discharged employees, probably, said Selph.

"From others," declared Steenerson, adding that there had been an insistent demand for a hearing at St. Louis to determine whether Selph's treatment of the employees had been impartial.

"I am aware," said Selph, "that the walking delegates of the Bolsheviks have made that demand."

"Who are the walking delegates of the Bolsheviks?" Steenerson asked. "One Flaherty and one Ryan," answered Selph.

He explained that Flaherty is secretary of the Federation of Railways and Ryan, secretary of the Railways Mail Service Department.

Denies Dissatisfaction in Office. Selph then turned to Steenerson and said he was willing that the St. Louis office and the St. Louis Postmaster should be investigated any time you want."

The discussion of salaries centered largely about that part of Selph's brief (prepared he stated by a committee of representative postmasters) in which the necessity of the postmasters maintaining position was cited as one reason why the pay should be increased.

Selph said that his salary was $9,000 a year, minus the $200 he paid as premium on his bond.

"Isn't that enough?" asked Moon. "I should say it wasn't," replied Selph.

"You think yourselves worth more than a Congressman or a Senator, then do you?" said Moon. (Congressmen and Senators are paid $75,000 a year). "I don't want to take issue with the gentleman on that score," said Selph.

"Well," Moon inquired, "how much more do you think you ought to have?" "I think," said Selph, "that we ought to be put on a basis of the business done, and that we ought to be paid not less than $12,000 per annum."

Handled $72,000,000 Last Year. Replying to further questions, Selph said that the postal receipts at the St. Louis office last year were $7,540,000, and that the office handled during the year, in all kinds of funds, $72,000,000, for all of which he was responsible.

Senator Moses said he understood that a good many offices were actually run by the Assistant Postmaster and he asked whether that was true in the St. Louis office.

"I run my own office," said Selph. "I reorganized my office and I ran it from start to finish. I am entitled to all the credit and I am willing to take whatever discredit there may be."

"What do you mean there by 'maintain a position'?" asked Moon, when Selph reached that part of his brief. "He (the Postmaster)," Selph explained, "is expected to contribute to every civic and patriotic enterprise initiated in his town; he is expected to contribute to almost every charity, he is expected to belong to every."

MRS. HILL RESIGNS AS COMMITTEEWOMAN

Says Her Position in University Prevents Her From Holding Political Office.

Mrs. A. Ross Hill, wife of the president of the Missouri State University, who before her marriage to Dr. Hill a month ago was one of the most active suffrage workers in the State, yesterday sent her resignation as Democratic National Committee woman from Missouri. Edward F. Galt, Democratic National Committeeman, Mrs. Hill said her "position in the university" would prevent her from holding office in any political party.

Her retirement from politics was indicated early in the week, when she canceled an engagement to speak at the meeting of the Democratic Women's State Committee in Jefferson City. Other women engaged in speculation at the time, several expressing the opinion that her retirement was due to her husband's disliking of politics.

Other women engaged in speculation at the time, several expressing the opinion that her retirement was due to her husband's disliking of politics.

Mrs. Arink, 30 years old, of 5852 Bartman avenue, wife of Dr. W. J. Arink, suffered concussion of the brain at 6 p. m. yesterday at the culmination of a series of accidents in which her automobile, which she was driving, hit three other machines and then ran on a terrace and overturned at 5707 Maple avenue. The three collisions were in a space of less than a block.

Miss Arink's car first hit a machine driven by Miss Anna Jacks, of 5722 Maple avenue. After this collision Mrs. Arink apparently lost control of her car and half a block further east it struck an automobile owned by Louis B. Stewart at 5718 Maple avenue and then swerved across the street and struck Joseph Walker's machine in front of 5717 Maple avenue.

John Brown, 70 years old, an insurance adjuster, of 4860 Fountain avenue, who was riding with Mrs. Arink, was slightly bruised. All of the automobiles were damaged.

Miss Marie Babine, 25 years old, 2306 Arsenal street, was arrested at 3 p. m. after an automobile she was driving had struck a bicycle ridden by Walter Henschen, 25, a teacher, 3102 Bell avenue, near the Atlantic street end of the Jefferson avenue bridge. In trying to avoid the bicycle Miss Babine ran the machine over the foot path and brought up against the bridge railing. At the city hospital it was said Henschen suffered internal injuries and scalp lacerations.

Lillian Heine, 23 years old, 2201 Park avenue, was cut and bruised at 5 p. m. when struck by an automobile driven by Norman Carman, 3145 Caroline street, as she alighted from a street car at Compton and Park avenues.

$285,477 DEFICIT FOR CITY FORECAST BY COMPTROLLER

Estimated Available Revenue Put at $13,751,029, With Expenses at $14,066,500.

A deficit of $25,477.65 in municipal revenue at the close of the fiscal year next April was forecast by Comptroller Nolte at a meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment yesterday.

Estimated available revenue for this year was $13,751,029, while the amount required is $14,066,500.

In preparing the budget at the beginning of the fiscal year the board believed $12,327,093.88 would meet expenses for the year, but additional appropriations of $779,503.7 already have been made. In the additional appropriations are $300,000 for the municipal dock and $245,000 for opening Twelfth street from Chouteau to Park avenue.

In his budget Comptroller said,

"Five hundred?" probed the Congressman. "About that," replied Selph.

"You make political contributions, don't you?" went on Steenerson. "That is a private matter," Selph replied.

"You refuse to answer?" "No, I don't refuse to answer," said the Postmaster. "I make political contributions as a private citizen, not as Postmaster."

Steenerson asked whether he gave $1000 a year and Selph said he could not afford that much.

"Five hundred?" probed the Congressman. "About that," replied Selph.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 18.— Through action of the laymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the 1916 general convention, sustained by both clerical and lay delegates yesterday, the innocent party to a divorce may be rewedded in the church. Amendment of the canons to prevent remarriage by an Episcopal priest to a person who has a divorced husband or wife, living was defeated. Despite desperate efforts of many of the clergy and a few of the laity to obtain its adoption, both orders registered a majority against the amendment.

In their fight to prevent what former Ambassador Page characterized as "continual nibbling away at the liturgy that has grown into the hearts of our people," the older churchmen in the House of Deputies have carried many of their points. Thursday they prevented the shortening of the "Te Deum." Yesterday they prevented the adoption of a proposal to change the "Amen" for the President of the United States, which would leave out the portion of the liturgy that has grown into the hearts of our people."

"BROKEN BLOSSOMS" AT SIX THEATERS

"The Gambler" With Harry Morey and Other Good Attractions Billed.

Leading Film Features

Pershing and Kings—"Broken Blossoms."
New Grand Central—Katherine McDonald in "The Thunderbolt."

Liberty—Harry T. Morey in "The Gambler."
West End Lyric—Dorothy Dalton in "The Apache."

Columbia—"The Open Door."

David Wark Griffith's special production, "Broken Blossoms," will be the week's big feature at the Pershing, Kings, Shenandoah, Jupiters, Lindell and Grand-Florissant theaters.

"Broken Blossoms" is based on Thomas Burke's story, "The Chin and the Child," one of the "Limehouse Nights" tales. Its locale is China and the slums of London, and it is a sincere human tragedy that probably only Mr. Griffith could have the courage and capacity to produce. It is utterly bereft of the "happy ending," and moves with the swift sense of the inevitable, the slow tread of fate. It is a simple tale, as simple as love and death. The characters, all Chinese, are played by Richard Barthelmess; a little girl of the London Limehouse district, played by Miss Lillian Gish, and a prize fighter father played by Donald Crisp.

Briefly, "Broken Blossoms" has to do with the cruel treatment of little Lucy by her father, who, when drunk or out of temper, wrecks his rage upon this piteous child. Her starved and bruised little body creeps around the crooked alleys of Limehouse, and there is none to bother her or her nerves. Only the Chinaman sees and understands. One day this bat-ter beats Lucy with rather more cruelty than usual, and she staggers forth from her hovel and falls, fainting, into the doorway of the Chinaman. "Festerly he gathers the little one in his arms, bears her upstairs to his room, where he bathes her wounds and dresses her in the sheet robes from the Orient. The father learns of the child's hiding place and drags her forth to her final doom. The end is swift and sure, for the Chinaman, true to his race, wreaks vengeance in no uncertain terms, and "Battling" is found in the morning with five bullet holes in his body, Cheng Huan's love-gift in payment for little Lucy's death.

Making her first appearance under the banners of the First National Exhibitors' Circuit, Kaliwina MacDonald will be seen beginning next week in the New Grand Central, Grand and Lucas avenues, in "The Thunderbolt," a First National super-production. Thomas Meighan, male star of "The Miracle Man," is also starred in the picture.

"Miss MacDonald has the role of a "kissless bride of hate" in the romance of the "strangest marriage on record." The story deals with Ruth Pomeroy, sole heir to a family honor, given by a father's dis-into the hands of Bruce Corbin. It is only to exterminate the Corbin family and Ruth is the last of the Spuds. Spuds by his Corbin's wife Ruth to marry him. After the marriage Corbin announces that his sole purpose in bringing about the union is to throttle in her any desire to perpetuate the Pomeroy family. It is this strange wedding that the story begins to unfold.

"The Gambler," a great stage success by Charles Klein has been made into a photo-play production and the film version, with Harry T. Morey playing the leading role, will be shown at the Liberty Theater for the next week commanding to-morrow afternoon.

"The Gambler" is peculiarly susceptible to a popularization and many exciting scenes which were only referred to in the stage version, have been visualized.

A somewhat radical change has been made in the motive of the District Attorney in his prosecution and almost persecution of "The Gambler." In the acted version the District Attorney was actuated by political ambition; in the screen version it is jealousy of his wife, who had previously been engaged to marry one of the guilty men.

Nevertheless, the Gridiron Is No Place for a Football Player With Cold Feet

Pikeway Gridiron Machine Opens Conference Season With Kansas Aggies Today

Washington Has Slight Weight Advantage While Visitors Have Seven Men Who Helped Humiliate Locals in 1917, 61 to 0—Each Team Has Great Kicker.

Washington is confident of winning its first Missouri Valley Conference football game of the season when the heavyweight Pikeway machine meets the eleven from Kansas Agricultural College at Francis Field at 3 p.m. today.

The maroon men went through their last workout yesterday afternoon, when a light signal practice and few conditioning stunts completed the training for this all-important contest with the Kansans. If Washington is defeated today, it will be practically eliminated from the struggle for Valley honors.

Outside of slight ailments of the guards, Kurris and Bailey, the team will take the field in good condition.

Despite the led injuries of these two players, they will start the game at their regular positions. Recent reports that Rutherford would shift his guards have proven to be wrong, as Hafner and Hausladen will be on the wings when Referee Magidson blows the starting whistle.

The Aggies, 21 strong, under the leadership of Coaches Cleverton and Schultz, arrived yesterday morning and registered at a downtown hotel. They had a 45-minute conditioning workout on High School Field, Grand and Lacled, early in the afternoon.

Houston Exercises Too.

The highly touted Houston, guard, who scored the two field goals which gave the Manhattan title to the Missourians, was last week was exercising his toe during the greater part of the workout. Houston stood on the 45-yard line and dropped three kicks over the goal posts out of about five attempts. He booted over the crossbar consistently from the 50 and 35 yard mark. His punting was good for distance and slight enough to permit his ends to get downfield under them.

Coach Cleverton announced that two of the Aggies who would start today were somewhat crippled. Hinds, the shift-right halfback, has had a "bad" knee since the start of the season and is not yet entirely fit. Enlow, left end, has had a bad shoulder from the same contest and the Aggie pilot fears that this may be the last game of the year. Cleverton also made the fact that Hafner, his 205-pound guard, was unable to make the trip because of an early season injury. He will be replaced by Huston, a less experienced and lighter man.

Purrier Game for Aggies.
The Aggies have played three games this season. Baker College was defeated, 16 to 9; Furman, 4 to 3, and the Aggies were tied, 6 to 6. Seven of the men who will take the field today are varsity letter men and played against Washington U. in 1917 when the locals were humiliated, 41 to 6. Marquard, Tamm, They are Enlow, Gatz, Gingrey, Carl Bogue, Burton, Hinds and Piatek.

Coach Rutherford does not fear the

NORTHWESTERN'S STARS DECLARED ELIGIBLE FOR WISCONSIN GAME TODAY

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—A hard fight between apparently evenly matched football teams was looked for today when Wisconsin and Northwestern, called the "dark horse" of the "Big Ten" Conference met on the latter's field at Evanston. Northwestern was assured of her full strength when the faculty of the college, who had decided last night that the Bernard brothers and Langenstein and Miller were eligible and Capt. Koehler, star fullback, injured a week ago, declared him fit to play in the game. Eligibility of the four men had been questioned by Wisconsin.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The Milk Indictments.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

About 20 Illinois milk producers and St. Louis milk distributing firms have been indicted by the October Federal grand jury on complaint, substantiated with sufficient evidence of the United States Government pure food and drug inspection service, for imposing upon the consuming public citizens of St. Louis of watered, skimmed and filthy milk.

Not only was this condition true two years ago, when the above evidence was secured; but, according to these same Government officials, such a deplorable condition exists as late as last July, when an extensive investigation was made to show the same dangerous conditions still continue.

Our city officials to whom has been intrusted the safeguarding of our health, and the guaranteeing to us of a pure, unadulterated milk supply, have emphatically denied the charges made against the safety and purity of our milk supply.

The Government officials, after making a large number of careful chemical and bacteriological analysis, coupled with a thorough sanitary inspection of many city milk plants, claim that our milk supply is skimmed, watered and filthy, rendering it dangerous to use, especially by our children.

To refute this our city officials claim that "our infant mortality rate was the lowest in the United States in 1917," yet the facts compiled in statistical form show many cities to have a lower infant mortality rate than ours. As to the typhoid fever cases due to imperfect cleansing of bottles, not to insure milk, how absurd! Isn't that very condition a part of the charge, that of unsanitary conditions rendering the milk subject to contamination? Isn't milk at once impure when put in unclean bottles? They also claim that most of our milk delivered to us is far above requirements, but at the same time state they made 40 prosecutions in one month against violators of such requirements. Does that seem consistent?

If these milk dealers are guilty, shall they continue to plunder the public, or will the city prevent them by revoking the licenses of continued offenders? What we consumers want are those "inconclusive facts" brought to us by the city, as well as by the Government officials, and a swift and sure remedy of this evil said to exist.

A CONSUMER.

Waiters' Wages.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
Just a word on the wage scale. I notice an article in an evening paper states that a waiter's pay is $15 per week, and that they are asking $22.50. Anyone familiar with their union wage scale knows they never reached over $10 a week, or $16 a day. They are asking $15 a week, does that sound unreasonable? I would like to meet the waiter that makes $40 to $50 a week. My husband works in the best houses and I know that item, as I read it, to be as big a joke as the paper it was printed in.

A WAITER'S WIFE.

Co-operative Plan for Wellston.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
During my work's on last Friday and Saturday, I chanced to pass the Government store at Fourth and Washington. Although the day was raw and cold, and the snow falling in torrents, I was surprised to find a long line of humanity waiting to be permitted to purchase a basketful of groceries. The thought immediately came to me that here was an elegant opportunity for our old friends Pneumonia and Influenza to get in some of their work. It seemed remarkable that these people would risk their health and possibly their lives in order to save a dollar or two. It is all the more remarkable when we are informed that for more than a month some gentlemen in the country have been trying to organize a co-operative society to handle foodstuffs in Wellston and had not met with any extraordinary success. They have a most liberal proposition and one that should find immediate favor, but this does not seem to be the case.

It appears to me that all this talk about the high cost of living is nothing more than unrest. The great failing of our American people is that they are always ready to find fault and raise a terrible howl, but they never lift a finger to remedy matters until it comes right home to them. This world is not perfect and never will be, but we can prove it a great deal if we will only be willing to lend a helping hand.

RICHARD J. ULRICH.

Want Food, Not Money Back.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The War Department says they are going to refund the money that has been paid for food through the postoffice carriers. Now they have had our money over two months and we want the food not the money. Is there no way to make them fulfill their contract?

Do you not think a mass meeting of all who have ordered and not received food should be called and a great protest made?

HUNGRY.

NO VITAL DIFFERENCES.

The hope that an agreement may be reached by representatives of employers and representatives of labor at the industrial peace table is not without foundation. The employers' group concedes the right, which the labor group asserts of organizing and collective bargaining through representatives of the employees' choice, but reserve the right of employers to decide whether or not they will deal with union representatives not in their employment.

WHAT TEACHERS' RESIGNATIONS MEAN.

The fact that more teachers have resigned since July 1 than during the entire fiscal year ending June 30, 1918, is causing Supt. Wilkins some anxiety. He is not worrying about the immediate present, but about the future. Instead of worrying the Superintendent ought to rejoice, for those resignations, in the opinion of the Post-Dispatch, simplify the situation and clearly define the public's duty.

Our teachers are resigning to take better positions. Some of them are going into other work. Others are going to other cities which pay higher salaries for the same character of work. Still others are advancing in their profession. The professional promotion of teachers is an individual progress which we would not stop if we could.

But the remedy for the other two classes of resignations is in our hands. We are facing competition. The business world is bidding for our teachers. Other cities, notably New York and Chicago, are bidding for them. We've got to meet such bids.

The employment of school teachers is a business proposition. We have not so regarded it heretofore. Neither has any other city. But that is how we must all look at it now. Hereafter when we vote to increase our taxes in order to meet teachers' salaries we may not unctuously approve our own fine philanthropy. There is nothing philanthropic about it at all. We must either pay teachers what their services are worth and command in the competitive market, or we must be content to employ inferior methods.

If they do not want to be just and reasonable and are not willing to submit to orderly processes, all methods will fail to harmonize them. But coming together in conference is the first step towards harmony. It is the main point to be gained.

TOO MUCH GEOGRAPHICAL LOCATION.

It sometimes happens that geographical location works both ways. East St. Louis was a justly celebrated location. Until recently it worked one way, or rather it was worked one way, and East St. Louis was very proud and happy in its possession. Now it is working two ways, and East St. Louis is unhappy.

It is this way: When St. Louis asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to remove the bridge arbitrary and require that coal be delivered to all parts of the St. Louis industrial district at the same freight rate, East St. Louis pleaded its favorable geographical location on the east side of the industrial district and, demanded that the discriminatory rate be retained in deference to its geographical location.

Recently the East St. Louis & Suburban Electric Railway System, by legal process, obtained permission to increase its intrastate rates. East St. Louis, by reason of its geographical location, incurred the penalty of increased trolley fares from which St. Louis, by reason of its geographical location, is temporarily at least exempt.

It might be supposed that East St. Louis, stung by the recoil of its only argument for favorable coal rates, would count consistency a jewel and accept the corollary of unfavorable passenger rates as its due of the bitter with the sweet. But geographical location is one thing and consistency is another. So East St. Louis is now before the Interstate Commerce Commission pleading for the lifting of the penalty of its geographical location on passenger rates while still insisting that the benefit of its geographical location on freight rates be saved to it.

The hotel managers are sternly opposed to passing this new expense along to the ultimate consumer. There's a reason. A glance at the menu will disclose it. The dining room tariff has already attained that altitude known as all the traffic will bear. Higher flight may not be essayed. The situation, then, is not a mere trade difficulty susceptible of solution by simply boosting the scale. The thing is an impasse.

The predaceous passion which has gripped the waiters is of no doubtful origin. One word accounts for it—prohibition. The largesse of that gayer age when Bacchus was a god is no more. The tip has evanesced unto a pale, pianissimo tinkle. The waiter, naturally, is loathe to forego the luxury to which he has been accustomed. He turns to the payroll.

But folks must eat. Already the cafeteria has removed the waiter from the ranks of indispensables, but most of us are still dependent on the cook. With the cook aligned with the waiter, quitting when the latter quits, what in to be done? Must the practice of self-service be extended to the kitchen? In addition to toting the tray, must we also wrestle with the pots and pans?

It is not a cheerful outlook. And as yet we have scarcely raised the cup of 99-1-2 per cent purity to our lips. What dregs shall we discover as we tilt it higher and higher through the jejune years! Frazzled and frayed by the burdens of denial, shall we go galloping back one of these days to the geniality that was bourbon, to the comfort that was rye?

The nine fatalities in the cross-continent airplane race, while deplorable, should not be taken as evidence of the danger in ordinary flying. High-speed races cannot be made without resorting to a degree of recklessness which would not be thought of under any other conditions. Almost every automobile race has its accidents due to this fact. It was also manifest in the balloon race, where one of the contestants went up in a balloon so rotten that it fell to pieces soon after he descended.

ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ'S CONFESSIONS.

Admiral von Tirpitz continued the "hard-boiled" old Prussian to the last.

In the final instalment of his memoirs, printed in the Post-Dispatch Friday, he declares that the greatest crime against the German people was, not the act of the military caste plunging them into a causeless war which forfeited a position in the world already great and mortgaged their future for half a century, but the revolution which brought retribution to the Hohenzollern ring. The implacable old Admiral plainly shows how much he despises the new statesmen of his country who are attempting to align Germany with twentieth century liberal thought, as exemplified in Germany's former enemies, and who, as he says, are cultivating hatred for the medieval imperialists who made the German empire powerful, created army corps, built ships for our protection." He even declares that the revolution "overthrew everything that had made Germany great."

Because of their possible effect on sentiment in this country, objection was made to the publication of the Von Tirpitz confessions. But who, having read them, would persist in objection? Their illumination of the strange viewpoints of militarism is perhaps more graphic than could be supplied from other sources. Their perusal is worth while as fixing the responsibility for frightfulness at sea, if for no other reason. He writes himself down as the uncompromising advocate from the first of unrestricted U-boat warfare. He resigned the command of the navy because the policy was modified for a time on our protest. His only criticism is because Germany vacillated in its defiance of the humane sentiment of the whole world and finally put in effect the policy of full savagery after delays enabling the allied to combat it.

Much more interesting than its influence in this country, where it will only inspire the more detestation for the things Von Tirpitz and Prussianism stood for, is the mass meeting of all who have ordered and not received food should be called and a great protest made?

HUNGRY.

LATEST IN THE BEEF TRUST SERIAL.

Part 4 of the Trade Commission's serial story on the Packing Trust gives figures whose ominous import are easily grasped. Four of the five members of the combine handled last year 49.5 per cent of the shipped poultry of the United States, 33 per cent of the shipped eggs, 49 per cent of the factory-made cheese. The five members handled 49.4 per cent of all lard products and lard substitutes. The Libby, McNeill & Libby Co., a Swift subsidiary, handled 10.4 per cent of all evaporated and condensed milk and monopolized the pineapple supply of the country. A practical control over the cereal breakfast food line is exercised by Armour & Co.

It is no longer a question of the monopoly in meat products and by-products, including the country's indispensable leather supply. The combine is constantly invading new fields and enlarging its control in fields previously invaded. Its professed principle of restraint in the "handling only of such products as naturally results from being in the packing business" opens the door to the handling of any and all food products.

The combine has a control which the public must control! The form of legislation that will do it without subjecting legitimate business to bureaucratic intermeddling may present a problem. But, necessarily being the mother of invention, it is a problem which energy and ingenuity can solve.

With armed enemies marching upon Lenin from every direction, now is the time for our parlor Socialists and Bolshevik intellectuals to rush to the aid of their idol. But you don't notice any frantic exodus, do you?

YES, Luella, In the Senate, When the flood Of talk is low. Something like The whole kaboodle Straightens up. And the others No. One by one. The famed amendments. Each one having Done its bit. Go the way Of chaff and chatter. Somewhat dexterous Than a nut.

After all, My little girlie, Here at home We seem to be Only drolly Doing over What was done Across the sea. Having had Our little frenzy. And our set-to With the air. Our conclusions Are exactly Those arrived at Over there.

Doubtless, When they sat At Paris, Other Johnsons, Reeds and Fails, Fairly terrified The echoes in the Celebrated halls. No doubt. Thousands Of amendments Rode the tempest For a day. Each within Its time to wither And in season Pass away.

That is all, My sweet Luella; When debate Has served a need. We in turn Shall only get to Where the Conference agreed. Where we might Have let its verdict, After argument, Suffice. We shall only Have succeeded in arriving At it twice.

So we have it, Dear Luella, Just as sure As you were born— Giving each one Here among us Ample chance To blow his horn. When the dust At last has lighted, And the wind Is duly sawed. We shall calmly Acquiesce in What was settled On abroad.

Through the Widow's Lorgnette

By HELEN ROWLAND.

The Age of the Ageless Woman.

"UPON my word!" exclaimed the Bachelor, dropping his white paper parcel upon the piano, and gazing solicitously into the Widow's violet eyes. "You look as sad as though you had just had an invitation to the wedding of your worst enemy."

"Worse than that!" responded the Widow, with a rueful three-cornered smile. "I've just had a birthday—my very last, Mr. Cutting!"

"Every birthday is a woman's last—just as every drink used to be a man's!" began the Bachelor in an effort to cheer her up.

But the widow waved him to his favorite chair, and turned to give the fire a vicious little poke.

"Don't you like the softness and light?" she implored him. "There are birthdays, like seventeenth or twenty, to which a woman looks cheerfully forward. And there are others, which are just milestones, where every woman stops and turns backward for a few years. Then she takes heart and starts forward again."

"Two years backward and one year forward," murmured the Bachelor admiringly. "My! No wonder they seem so terribly young!"

"Did you ever know a woman who was exactly twenty-five, for instance?" pursued the Widow, "or exactly twenty-eight, or exactly thirty, or exactly seven?"

"Come to think of it—I never have," admitted the Bachelor. "Lots of them twenty-four, or twenty-seven, or twenty-nine—but IS there any woman over thirty, in these bewildering days?"

"Not before she's fifty, Mr. Cutting," declared the Widow more blithely. "No woman is old enough to be 'middle-aged' any more. It is as though she's delicate, or helpless, or having headaches or fainting spells. Any woman who can't manage to look at least 10 years her own junior is in positive failure!"

"Hear, hear!" cried the Bachelor. "This is the Age of the Ageless Woman! How old is a woman, anyway?" he demanded with a whimsical smile. "If a man is as old as he feels!"

"Then a woman is as old as she feels that she looks!" rejoined the Widow promptly.

"But how are you to know how old she feels she looks," persisted the Bachelor. "When they all look exactly alike! I've seen old ladies of seventy tottering around on high French heels, and smiling ghostly, roused smiles into their vanity mirrors, who FELT that they looked seventeen."

"Ah, but they didn't," the Widow shook her head sadly. "That's where you are mistaken, Mr. Cutting. If they had really FELT young, they wouldn't have used all those little subtleties and props and first aids to nature to sustain their vanity. You never see a MAN rushing out to the druggist's or the beauty specialists in a frenzy of fear at the first wrinkle or the first gray hair."

"No," agreed the Bachelor cheerfully. "He merely rushes into a new flirtation, or tries a new game or a new motor car, or a new heart interest—and gets twice the rejuvenating effect. But you will admit that the beauty specialist has a lot to do with the modern woman's eternal youth, won't you?"

"Oh, yes." And the Widow shrugged one white shoulder nonchalantly. "There is nothing that pulls a woman's body and soul together and braces up her vanity, and keeps up her illusions about herself, like a perfectly fitting gown or shoe or glove—but those are only the SYMBOLS of youth. The tonics, which rejuvenate a woman of today, and keep her radiant and glowing and buoyant and eternally young are the tonics she takes for her heart and mind and spirit and vanity. And they are exactly the same 'youthifiers' with which a man keeps rosy and hale and perky, at fifty!"

"What! Flirtations and games and sports?"

"Certainly! It takes a new heart interest every now and then, to keep up the glow of life, and to keep the heart in good working condition. Mr. Cutting. Work and love and golf and athletics and politics, dancing and clubs and new enthusiasms. Getting out into the world—going, seeing, doing, playing, accomplishing, creating! Those are the things that, for years and years, kept men supple and buoyant, while their little wives stayed at home and ossified physically, mentally and spiritually. Now, above all, no woman is too young for a job, nor too old for a love affair—and as long as she has these two she will never wither, or mold or perish!"

"But, I thought marriage was the end of love," protested the Bachelor, "and—"

"Yes, of course you did—and of life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness!" and the Widow's laugh rippled out in triumphant mockery. "But it isn't, any more—even for a woman. It doesn't in the least interfere with her mental growth, or her vital interest in the outside world. And, neither does spinsterhood stunt her development and wither her soul. It doesn't even frightened her, any more. Because she knows that, as long as she is doing, or being or creating something—whether it's children, or pictures or poems or just admiration—she is young with the youth of the gods!"

"Oh, tell that to the mental scientists!" scoffed the Bachelor rubbing the top of his head thoughtfully. "I can start a new love affair and a new game of golf every day or so, but it won't stop my top hair from falling out!"

"That's because your illusions have turned gray and you are getting wrinkles on the heart." And the Widow looked at the Bachelor comiserately. "The moment one loses one's faith in life's magic possibilities, the moment one ceases to BELIEVE in fairies and Santa Claus and love, and all that, and stops looking for miracles and surprises; the moment everything in life becomes sure and settled and cut-and-dried!"

"It's time to die!" groaned the Bachelor.

"No!" corrected the Widow, "it's time to wake up! Age is not a matter of the body, but of the spirit—not a matter of constitution or the muscles, but of disillusion of the enthusiasts and sentimentalists!"

"Then why does a woman try to LOOK like a flapper?" And the Bachelor coolly lit a cigarette, as he fired the telling shot.

"Because," the Widow regarded her graciously modish skirt complacently, "every woman is a flapper, at heart, nowadays. All the clothes in the shop are designed and made for flappers. You can't get a 'middle-aged' frock or a 'middle-aged' hat—thank heaven! You've GOT TO dress like a flapper, or—"

"Yes, I know," put in the Bachelor hastily. "From the back view a man can't tell which woman to fol—which woman to—"

"Go on, Mr. Cutting," purred the Widow sweetly.

"Which woman to call 'Mamma' and which to call 'Baby,'" finished the Bachelor. "They're all just marking time."

"Beating Time, you mean," retorted the Widow, "and they HAVE him beaten, frazzle!"

"To complete the picture that a man doesn't dare remember a girl's birthday," agreed the Bachelor with a groan. "If he sends her too many roses, she'll think him insulting, and if he sends her too few, she'll think him thin."

With a look of vast relief, the Bachelor rose and lifted the long white paper parcel from the piano and dropped it in the Widow's lap.

With a little shudder, she undid the wrappings, and looked for a long, breathless moment at the contents.

"How lovely of you!" she cried softly, as she buried her face in the moist, cool, fragrant depths of the roses.

And the Bachelor, smiling self-complacently down into her shining eyes, mentally blessed the Florist who had discreetly suggested "two dozen."

WIDOW-CISMS.

To be a good American husband is to be the noblest work of woman!

You wouldn't THINK of demanding of another car what you demand of a flapper. That's why a flapper is like a wife, more useful, less expensive, and nothing to worry about.

There are three moments in a man's life when his friends have to hold their breath to keep from shouting at him—when he is falling in love, when he is falling out of it, and when he is running his car over a precipice.

A model wife is one who can guide her husband's destiny with one hand while she keeps the incense burning before his vanity with the other.

Religion is the perfume which sweetens a woman's soul; philosophy the bracer, which stiffens her backbone.

Mrs. Mary Kinella, secretary of the Iowa Association of Master House Painters and Decorators, is probably the only woman in the United States who holds an office in that Master Painters' Association.

Mrs. Lora Anderson is the only woman in Washington, D. C., and probably the only American woman who has been the personal guest of Queen Elizabeth of Belgium. She went to the temporary palace for a week-end visit to their majesties while she was engaged in Red Cross work in that country.

New Hats a Riot of Color.

By JANE WYNNE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.

WITH the inauguration this week of one of the two additional millinery seasons that are being launched in the fashionable shops and salons, it is time for a surprising Never has there been such a riot of color and the most fantastic shades seem to have the greatest favor.

This change is rather welcome at this time, for with the approach of the cooler days the gowns worn by the smart women are rather somber. A dark blue frock of plain design, topped with a dashing green feather, makes a stunning costume, whereas a black or dark blue hat, no matter how smart, does not lend a great amount of distinction to the attire.

Bright orange has the greatest popularity just now and several windows in distinctive shades are being given over to displaying unusual models in this shade. As the season just started is the winter season, many fur hats and toques are shown, but it is not very likely that they will be worn until the weather is a bit colder.

The Maple rustled as she spoke, as if she were already dressed in her new clothes.

"Oh, I would choose if I could have a new one."

"And why should we not have new ones?" asked a pretty Beech Tree. "I feel sure that someone could help us to get them if we only asked."

"But of whom could we ask such a favor?" said the Maple. "No one but the fairies could bring about such a change, but if I could change my dress I would not care for a plain color. I should choose gold and red."

The Maple rustled as she spoke, as if she were already dressed in her new clothes.

"Oh, I would choose to be dressed like my cousin Marigold in the garden," said the Chestnut Tree. "I have always admired her color."

"I quite agree with your choice, my dear," said the Beech tree, "only I would choose the shade like the tall Sunflower which looks over the garden wall."

"But all this choosing of colors for our gowns does not get them," said the Maple, "and it seems to me that our sister Oak can help us, for does she not furnish for the fairies and the goblins their cups? Everyone knows that acorns are fair and good, don't they?"

The Sturdy Oak began to move. "I never thought of that," she said. "I'll ask this very night."

And she did, but the fairies told her they could do very little besides getting the goblins to listen to their request, for Jack Frost kept all the fall shades up in his house in the North.

"You see," said the fairies, "you could not put on those gay colors when the flowers are in bloom because the green is needed to make the world beautiful, but we are sure that later in the season you could have your wish."

The Goblins listened to the trees and promised to see Jack Frost as soon as he was awake, and when the flowers went to sleep, the fairies gave them their new clothes and there they stood all gay and beautiful like a huge bouquet, and every year since that time they have been one of the most popular models.

Mrs. Morris Volek agreed at ten o'clock the other day in a very unusual dress of blue cloth trimmed with sort of panels of dull cloth of silver.

The same material was used for the girdle and to decorate the bodice. The bodice was of black velvet trimmed with a single novelty ornament.

The Sturdy Oak began to move. "I never thought of that," she said. "I'll ask this very night."

And she did, but the fairies told her they could do very little besides getting the goblins to listen to their request, for Jack Frost kept all the fall shades up in his house in the North.

WHAT'S THE USE?

It was the driver of a van
Who to his offspring said:
"I'm just a rough-necked working man.
That labors for his bread.
But you shall learn to read and write
And multiply and such.
To wear clean shirts and talk polite
And some day you'll be rich."

And so the lad to school was sent,
Where, as the years rolled by
He learned what comic sections meant,
And how to extract Pi.
And presently he could discuss Such esoteric themes
And differential calculus
And Freud on Foolish Dreams.

Meanwhile the rough-necked workingman
With fond paternal joy
Continued driving of his van
To educate his boy.
And often would he mop his brow
And joyfully declare:
"That kid o' mine 10 years from now
Will be a millionaire!"

Today the kid is keeping books
At ten a week for pay.
And from the way the outlook looks
That's where he's going to stay.
And every morning he complains
In peevish tones and sad
"If I had brown instead of brains
I'd be as rich as dad!"

Bloodless Revolution in Turkey Based on Demand for American Mandate and Enmity to British

Correspondent Who Was on Scene Describes Dramatic Dispatch of Ultimatum to Sultan by Nationalist Leaders.

BY LOUIS EDGAR BROWNE,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Oct. 18.—The new Turkish Cabinet is the result of a wide-spread, but bloodless revolution in Anatolia, headed by Gen. Mustapha Kemal Pasha and Rœuf Bey, who, acting in the name of the national congress of Sivas, gave the Sultan one hour to get out of bed, passed across Constantinople to the end of the telegraph wire in Stamboul to hear and accept the ultimatum of the Sivas congress. The Sultan's Minister refused and the terms of the ultimatum went into effect. Anatolia severed all relations with the Sultan and his Cabinet. Asiatic Turkey is composed of the city of Constantinople. Finally the Sultan capitulated and dismissed the Cabinet of Damad Ferid Pasha and appointed a compromise Cabinet under the grand-viziership of Ali Riza Pasha who had just sent a delegation to Anatolia to be the co-operation of the nationalist forces. Whether this Cabinet lasts depends on its unconditional submission to the forces of Gen. Mustapha Kemal Pasha. The Americans in Turkey see in the revolt a struggle against autocracy and tyranny in favor of constitutionalism. The ultimatum included an imperative demand that the Sultan relinquish his absolute rule of Turkey which has continued since the armistice.

The national congress of Sivas to whose will the Sultan has just stooped to offer a compromise demands four things, the most important of which is an Ottoman mandate for the entire Ottoman empire. The second is an immediate general election to enable the formation of a parliament so that the Turkish people can express their demands and control the activities of the Sultan. The third is to safeguard the territorial and political integrity of the Turkish nation and the fourth is to secure by negotiation or by war the departure of the Greek forces from Smyrna.

Called Nationalist Movement. The revolt is called a national movement and the revolutionary forces, which include every unit of the Ottoman army, are called the movement "directed against the Christian subjects of the Ottoman empire. The Armenians are not now being killed, molested or hindered from free movement in Anatolia. Despite the Greek occupation of Smyrna and the resulting bitter feelings of the Ottomans Greeks are not blamed and condemned for their attack on the Turks.

Women in Government. "We have no confidence in the Government. If you wish to save your country from civil war dismiss the present Cabinet, summon one which will be acceptable to the nation and order general elections so that Parliament may be opened and promulgate a special law to expedite the election." After making a favorable decision you must address yourself to the humanitarianism of the allied Powers and seek to obtain justice for your empire. We are waiting with impatience at the end of the telegraph wire for your answer accepting our demands. For the moment we have no further demands upon you.

"In the event of your non-acceptance we have it to the intelligence of your majesty to appreciate the grievous results for your country and your throne. On the other hand, the entire responsibility for the past misdeeds falls upon the Cabinet and your majesty's throne is also free from blame. We are prepared to take the necessary military steps to enforce our demands. Further, we have proved to the nation the correctness of our attitude. Our stand is supported by all loyal Ottomans."

This crisis came when the national congress at Sivas, consisting of 75 delegates representing every province in European and Asiatic Turkey, voted unanimously to obtain the co-operation of the Sultan in their policy for Turkey or to force his abdication. To this end the leaders were given the unlimited powers to act in the name of the national congress. Previous to the assembly of the national congress each delegate was required to stand with his left hand on the Koran while he signed the following oath:

"I will follow no personal interest, and I abdicate that the salvation and peace of my father and the nation. I will not try to revive the Union and Progress committee. I will not serve the interest of any political party. This I swear in the name of Allah."

Once the congress had decided to read the riot act to the Sultan, it was determined to stop at no half-measures. It passed a resolution embodying its demands and terminating with an open threat of drastic action unless the demands were met.

Text of the Sivas Demands.

The resolution was as follows: "Sivas, Sept. 1, 1919—We are convinced that the Ottoman nation can be safeguarded only by the unified co-operation of every element of the state. It is the universal conviction that we have organized the national congress at Sivas. All Ottomans have fought for more than four years with bravery and patience and have accepted with calm all the privations and sufferings exacted by the country's needs. These same Ottomans are now viewing with alarm violations of an armistice which at the conclusion of four years of nightmare terminated the hostilities. The most essential point of the armistice is the tenth. President Wilson's following points which provides for the self-definition of nationalities, under which guarantee the Turkish nation is preserved because it has a majority in every province. ## How Will the Millions of Europe's Women, Barred by War From Marriage, Work Out Their Destiny?

A Grave Social Problem That Confronts All the Nations Involved in the Conflict in Which the Potential Husbands Fell in Battle Discussed by Noted Feminine Physicians From Abroad, Now in Convention in New York.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The balance of the sexes was upset by the war. The killing of millions of men disturbed the numerical equivalence of men and women in many countries. For millions of women who would have been married there are now no men. The emotional life of great groups must be expressed in new ways. What does this signify for the women of the world? Will woman's genius, turned out of the home, find itself in the cause of man and useful and beautiful things for mankind? Are there to be more great women artists and scientists and executives than ever before? Is society to have a revolutionary example of the constructive powers of women?

The destruction of the opportunity for the fulfillment of the normal hopes and expectations of women has come at a time when society was never so uncertain of its foundations.

The Caldon of Social Change is boiling with a fervor not approached in a century. The derangement of the emotional life of millions has occurred after a period when war's remorseless necessity to dismember and foreign sovereignty over vilayets in which there is a Turkish majority.

"We insist upon equal rights for all and guarantee to our non-Moslem compatriots the minimum of equal rights and political liberty."

"The eastern vilayets must not be severed from us or given to a foreign Power. We are decided not to lay down our arms until such a time as it is surely determined that not one bit of our empire north of a line drawn from Mosul to Alexandria is to go to a foreign Power."

"If the European Powers prepared to serve humanity they cannot permit grave injustice to your people can express their demands and control the activities of the Sultan."

The third is to safeguard the territorial and political integrity of the Turkish nation and the fourth is to secure by negotiation or by war the departure of the Greek forces from

Women in Government.

"We have no confidence in the Government. If you wish to save your country from civil war dismiss the present Cabinet, summon one which will be acceptable to the nation and order general elections so that Parliament may be opened and the election."

Would Find Their Own Way Out.

"The emotional problem, the problem created by the fact that something like 10 millions of men lost their lives in the war is one of the most serious problems of the war."

"In the event of your non-acceptance we have it to the intelligence of your majesty to appreciate the grievous results for your country and your throne. On the other hand, the entire responsibility for the past misdeeds falls upon the Cabinet and your majesty's throne is also free from blame. We are prepared to take the necessary military steps to enforce our demands. Further, we have proved to the nation the correctness of our attitude. Our stand is supported by all loyal Ottomans."

Employed Women Often Better Off.

"England has need of every atom of skill in all its departments. In the government, in the army, in the young men go to the colonies. The dreadful loss in man power accentuated this difference in numbers. Thus many more women must work. There are not men to marry. It is extremely important that they do work. Nature implanted a tremendous energy in women for a particular purpose. When that purpose is not fulfilled it is like a bomb. It must be used or it will destroy.

"We know that women were employed in all the war work. Women students, she reports, and never was there such a determination in woman not to idle as many of the leisure classes did, prior to the war. Many are unwilling to stop work and to return to their homes, while among the working-class women who first earned relatively high wages they are now reduced to mere subsistence wages. Few coats have been called into service. In general the enjoyment of the good things of life has spread because of the work of women—a solid gain, in the judgment of young men to the colonies. The women who are good fellows by the men they met in the course of duty. Perhaps that is the most significant thing which has happened. For in England, at least, where we have no co-education, young women and young men were mysteries to each other. They really do not see anything of each other, say, age of 6 or 7, until they have been married. When they meet naturally, the young men are not present. Young women could not dress especially to meet young men. It was good for them to meet in working clothes, the girls a bit dirty and greasy from their tasks. It made a different type of comradeship possible.

"The high cost of living has also had significant effects on the family life. The domestic servant is changing into an industrial worker. Instead of cooking for 60. This tends toward communal life. The status of servants has changed. In some places now both the mistress and the maid have been successfully employed at the engineering trades. They do not wait until they have what seems formerly to be the necessary amount of money.

"The suffrage movement is strong. The Chamber of Deputies has accepted the principle, but the Senate's committee is still opposed to it. In France, at the beginning at least, woman's influence will strengthen the fight against alcoholism and for morality and for a better public health."

Necessity Remodeling Structure.

Not merely in the belligerent countries, but throughout Western civilization, a new epoch for women has been unfolded. Neutral countries are obviously confronted with the appalling problems of wholesale losses in man power. But on the other hand, the shortage of workers and the rising cost of living have compelled producers to work everywhere. Everywhere women have had to undertake unfamiliar tasks because men were lacking. Throughout Europe and America wage earners have, upon the whole, prospered and the middle classes have suffered. Women have been drawn out of the home by the lure of economic betterment. Home life and family arrangements have been modified as by evolution. Nevertheless, it is remarkable the social structure.

Such is the testimony of observers scattered widely. Thus Dr. Daniel Bang of Christiania emphasized the leveling process which has taken place even in democratic Norway. "The poor are better off; the middle classes are worse off," she said. "Married women work because they need to. With us it is no longer a question of men and women but of individuals. The scarce servant is compelling changes in the home. The status of woman is being altered. The social structure is changing. The leveling process. I think it means progress."

The same movement of events was reported by Dr. Anna Sundquist of Stockholm. Dr. Sundquist stated that the feminist revolution was well nigh complete in Sweden. The crucial principles have been settled; their application is occupying the public mind. The question, for example, is not whether women may certain kinds of work, but whether they may earn certain amounts. The number of new women in the university, and similar conditions are reported from other institutions. There is at present a counter-reaction. Every woman is being made to return to the home.

"Women in England always out-numbered men. So many of our memorandum he declined to submit it either to the Sultan or to the Grand Vizier. Mustapha called a general council in the telegraph office. Rœuf Bey, a Captain in the Turkish navy, who had worked for the American Ambassador D. B. Buckland, was appointed as a member of the council who spoke American English with all its embellishments. Interpreted everything for the correspondents. When Mustapha urged immediate drastic action he was cheered. However, he declined to take action without the support of Anatolia and to get this support he established communication with every important city in Asiatic Turkey which was under foreign control. I have never heard of more efficient communications than I witnessed that night.

THE GENERAL CONGRESS ASSEMBLED IN SIVAS. When Minister Ali received this and young people feel that risks may be taken. They no longer delay until certain safe incomes are obtained. Also the problem of home help becomes more perplexing.

"But many of the women in the munitions factories no longer want to return to domestic service they left. Scotland, it must be remembered, however, is democratic so far as customs are concerned, but even so we do not like to think of the future of the family of moderate means. For them incomes are the same or less and they cannot be as they did."

Evolution in France.

France, traditionally conservative as to the place of women, is also in the throes of a feminist evolution, according to the statements of Dr. Yvonne Pouzin of Nantes and of Dr. L. Thullier Landry of Paris. Together they discussed the situation comparing each other's impressions.

"It is extremely important that they do work. Nature implanted a tremendous energy in women for a particular purpose. When that purpose is not fulfilled it is like a bomb. It must be used or it will destroy.

"Fortunately in all the war work of women there was no outstanding failure. They accomplished what they set out to do. No one can estimate what women achieved in keeping the nation fed. Few appreciate what the women of the home went through in merely obtaining food.

Benefits of Association of Sexes.

"But the work outside the home has been extremely important for the future. A new kind of camaraderie has been created by the women who are associated with each other under strange

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

What the Marines Did.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
I enclose a letter in your paper of today's date, from a doughboy of the Third Division. This doughboy states: "It's rather amusing to read of the marines capturing Chateau-Thierry and St. Mihiel." I agree with him there, and I was a marine and with the Sixth Regiment when they stopped the "squareheads" at "Belleau Woods" when they thought they were going to goose-step right into Paris over the Marne-Metz road.

The marines didn't capture Chateau-Thierry, neither did they capture St. Mihiel. If this doughboy would take the trouble to ask any marine who was with the Fifth or Sixth Regiment in the battle of Belleau Woods, he would find out that the marines did not claim the honor of capturing Chateau-Thierry. I wonder if he would find it amusing if he would find it amusing if he could get through the various naval hospitals in the east and see several marines still confined to bed, from wounds received in the battle of Belleau Woods, almost a year and a half ago. Or, perhaps, it would be amusing to him to walk through "Belleau Woods" and feast his eyes upon the hundreds of little wooden crosses marking the resting places of the marines who gave all they had for God, their country and their flag. This brave doughboy refers with considerable sarcasm to the prisoners the marines took in Paris, Chaumont, and various other towns. He is judging all the marines that were in France by one company that was stationed in Paris on M. P. duty.

In closing, I want to emphasize the fact that all the marines who were veterans of the Second Division do not think they are any better than the doughboys. Ask any doughboy who was with the Ninth or Twenty-third Infantry, or the Twelfth, Fifteenth or Seventeenth Artillery. Ask any of them if they couldn't always get a square meal at a marine galley.

A MARINE, who WAS a marine.

Make St. Louis a City of Homes.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Good luck to the St. Louis H. and H. Association. They are sure planning a big thing for St. Louis, and I hope they make it a go. I have been struck with the improvement and the old men who let me know that the future of us who let them have a big boom for the other fellow later on. It is sure to come, for the increase in population and the stagnation of building has led to an overcrowded condition that can only be relieved by expansion.

The best way is to "buy a lot" with the hope and expectation of putting a roof over your head that can't be raised from $10 to $50 a month. Let's make St. Louis a city of homes, for we can't improve on the old men who said: "Home-keeping hearts are happiest." I say, "Hurrah for the St. L. H. and H. Association," may their shadows never grow less. Yours for a permanently greater and better St. Louis.

Prosecution of the Packers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.
The Saturday, Sept. 27th, issue of the Post-Dispatch contained an editorial entitled "The Poor Little Packers" that seems to call for an answer from Swift & Co., inasmuch as we are mentioned in it.

It is true, as the Post-Dispatch says, that we deplore the malicious reports put out by the Federal Trade Commission, and we believe that every fair-minded American has the same feeling as soon as he reads the news that it is the purpose of the Trade Commission to discredit the large packers before the public by unwarranted statements and methods.

It is a sad state of affairs when things get to such a pass that the Attorney-General of the United States will declare that he is engineering a prosecution of American citizens in which he expects to compel a verdict of conviction through the wrath of the populace. Such statements accredited to the Attorney-General are extremely unprofessional and against all canons of ethics.

It is the duty of the Attorney-General to prosecute alleged violations of law, but only after an indictment has been returned.

Swift & Co., several months ago, notified Attorney-General Palmer that it would facilitate the announced investigation, in the full confidence that the ultimate result would clear up any misunderstanding that yet remained in the public mind, and that it would supply him with the facts about any matter in the knowledge of the company. We want the issue between the Federal Trade Commission and the packing industry settled, and we want it thoroughly settled so that the general public will be able to render its verdict and know that it is making a decision based on a full consideration of the facts.

PROGRESSIVE WOMEN VOTERS.

The demand of the women voters of Missouri, whose convention was held in St. Louis last week, that they be permitted to participate in the choice of delegates to the next national conventions of the political parties, in accord with their affiliations, is based upon solid ground of reason.

Since the women are to vote on presidential candidates, their right to have a voice in the selection of candidates is clear. We do not doubt that party committees will grant the demand. Not only right, but party interest would be served by this course. It is gratifying to note in the first platform of Missouri's women a plank favoring the Smith-Towner bill providing for a department of education in the Federal Government. Leadership in educational advancement might have been expected of the women, whose hearts are close to the rising generation, and there is no more fruitful branch of public service to which they can devote their influence, energy and votes.

They might wisely have added to their demand for a department of education a department of art, which Joseph Pennell advocated in his recent address at the Exposition of Arts and Crafts. Both are needed for the future to solve increasing educational and art problems, to co-ordinate educational and art activities and to plan new lines of educational and art advances.

There is a demand now, growing stronger and more insistent every year, for a Federal School of Applied Arts and Crafts which will provide for the encouragement of education and training in design and craftsmanship by selecting the best talent among American youths and offering it opportunity for the best educational training. American industrial arts and crafts will require trained designers and craftsmen in large numbers, not only to win American supremacy in industry and trade, but to enable America to hold her own in competition with Europe, where the best facilities are offered for education and training in the arts and crafts. The leading European nations have encouraged through governmental aid and activity the development of the best talent in both fine and applied arts and are half a century ahead of us. They have provided adequate schools, expositions and all the means within government resources to promote the making of the best finished products. It will require a mighty, concentrated effort for the United States to catch up with European equipment.

The women are right in asking that all discriminations against women in the civil service be eliminated. They are entitled to full equality in government work in which they participate with men.

It is gratifying also to note that in their first platform the women of the State declare for several fundamental and practical reforms which are greatly needed. Certainly Missouri requires above all other things a new Constitution and a thorough reform of the tax system, which is practically bound up in constitutional revision. They favor the budget system for Federal, state and municipal governments.

These reforms have long been advocated in vain by men of broad minds who look to public instead of the private and the party interest. We indulge the hope that with the addition of the high ideals and fresh energies of the women voters, such an impetus will be given to the campaign for these much-needed reforms that the blockade of the political machines, the peanut politicians and the special interests back of both, will be broken down. We hail with joy the reinforcements of voting women for the cause of progress.

THE STRIKE OF THE STRIKERS.

A new variety of strike has developed in the South Chicago steel mills—a strike within a strike. Among the strikers are men owning automobiles, who have been employed in driving plowmen from one front to another. They have been working 13 hours a day or more, at daily wage of $8. They have demanded $10 a day and eight hours. Presumably the demand has been refused. Anyhow, the car-owning strikers have struck against their fellow-strikers.

The incident has an element of humor, of course, but it may have educational possibilities, too. What efforts, if any, were made by the strike managers to conciliate or satisfy their own intractables are not reported. Possibly no effort was made. Possibly the strike managers summarily refused to consider the motorists' demands. Possibly the strike managers, a la Gary, refused even to see or talk with the motorists. Possibly the motorists did not give the strike managers a chance to discuss the proposition at all, but simply stated their requirements and quit their jobs, pending the granting of the desired wage and working scale. If any one of those assumptions is correct it ought to illustrate, with especial force, the folly of such procedure. It ought also to be an apt and convincing argument for arbitration as to the method of settling labor disputes.

Whether the strike managers increase their knowledge and broaden their understanding of essentials from this contingency may not be forecast, but the striking motorists have, unwittingly, written the door for them to the school of actual experience.

CONVERSATION—CONFESION—CONFUSION.

Something should be done to confine the Blountsville (Ind.) revival to Blountsville, Ind., or thereabouts. It is going to make a lot of trouble if it becomes general. It is doing that already around Blountsville.

The Blountsville idea is that when a sinner gets religion it is time for him to stand right up in meeting and tell all the mean things he ever did. That would not be so bad if the revelation related only to the revelator. But the Blountsville idea is to not only tell on yourself but on your accomplices. These latter, not having got religion in the same way and at the same time, do not share the tale-telling enthusiasm of the converts. Result: Serious complications.

There was the case of the penitent farmer, who confessed that he had stolen his neighbor's hogs, or at least thought that he had. The neighbor promptly impeached the veracity of the penitent by denying that his hogs had been stolen, and hard feelings were created.

But that was nothing to the consternation created when a "redeemed" storekeeper, instead of confessing to short weighted and overcharges, as might have been expected, told how he had been a regular devil among the Blountsville women, and named a few. The women denied it, of course, and their husbands backed them up in it and at last accounts the husbands were taking turns in beating up the penitent.

The Blountsville idea should not be allowed to spread because, for one thing, confessing the sins of others creates no end of complications, and, for another thing, even if the converts confine themselves to their own malefactions, they will be using up a lot of time that would better be employed in bringing forth fruits meet for repentance.

So far as this private is concerned the incident of whatever was done to him in the service is ended. And a lesson has been administered which is much more wholesome for this particular "hard-boiled" officer, for "hard-boiled" officers in general, than a court-martial and constructive confinement for a few months at a military post.

THE COTTON PROBLEM.

At the world cotton conference, in session at New Orleans the past week, at which 31 nations were represented, an eminent authority on economics declared that "a restriction in cotton acreage would be nothing short of a calamity."

The requirements, he said, were unlimited, and his judgment was supported by textile manufacturers from England, Italy, Switzerland and other nations. The textile industry in those countries is slowly getting back to normal, but the Old World's demand for cotton goods far exceeds the manufacturers' productive capacity and if anything should happen to reduce the supply of the raw material the consequences would be distressing.

But the cotton broker, whose spokesman was President Shottwe Wanamaker of the American Cotton Association, presented another side of the picture. Mr. Wanamaker said that cotton had been the curse of all the Southern states. The industry, he pointed out, had depended for its very life on cheap labor. White women and children have to go into the cotton fields because the price of cotton, except under abnormal and rare circumstances, did not permit the employment of capable, well-paid labor. This condition, he insisted, must be remedied, and the world conference, he frankly stated, would be a failure if it did not effect some understanding between manufacturers and growers which secured for the latter a price that would raise the growing of cotton from a level of serfdom to the plane of an American industry.

Further, the arguments, one might say, the entreaties, of Europe against a reduction of cotton acreage at the New Orleans convention must have provoked some confusion among the people of Louisiana, where a decidedly spirited political campaign for the Democratic nomination for Governor is now being waged, in which the future of the State's agriculture is one of the big issues. The necessity of crop diversification, which, after all, is but another way of advocating a reduced cotton acreage, has been strikingly shown by one of the candidates. According to the figures quoted, Louisiana last year produced only 40 per cent of its stock feed—corn, oats and hay—spending $46,000,000 for those supplies in other states. Of dairy products but 15 per cent was grown at home, while $20,000,000 worth was imported. So with other produce, the result being that Louisiana sends out annually more than $100,000,000 of her money for food and feed which could be produced at home.

Obviously, production in this desirable variety can only be attained by diverting some of the acreage or, at least, a good deal of the energy, which now goes into cotton. Moreover, the movement for crop diversification has already made substantial progress in many of the Southern states and is steadily winning favor. It is a sound policy. It is making a happier, more prosperous South. No valid objection can be offered to it. But it means less cotton, unless, as Mr. Wanamaker explained, the production of cotton is made a profitable business, conducted according to American standards.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE.

AT LAST the black-robed Angel came to serve the writer, commanding me to cast away this mortal frame.

To lie down whilst the rushing ages fly,

And what I was, extinguished like a candle flame.

Yet in the life I lived, I long ago had found, Some of the mystic radiance from out the skies, The scarlet of the flowers, the thundering sound of mighty rolling tones ere the tornadoes died.

And in the grand Cathedral, its music ringing In glorious crescendos, then a choir-boy's voice So sweetly clear; and Oh, such heavenly singing Echoing to its source Angels and Saints rejoice.

My guard and guide began with me the great ascent;

And that of me was earthly unto earth returned After he bade the pathless journey to commence, Taking a spirit only from a body spurned.

In time we came to tinted, sculpturedony walls,

So far we reached no eye could count or understand.

There were no gates nor bars nor aught that most appals Us whose lives are linked to Paradise by just a strand.

Yet ever on we went to brighter, rosier light, Which never ceased to glow and where no shadows fell.

Twas always endless day; there never comes the night,

And where that wondrous scene no speech can ever tell.

And soon we passed through festooned clouds to ever higher.

Where worlds are not, nor elements, nor sun,

nor sea,

Naught but a golden light of ever-living fire,

But not of coals or flames; Light of Eternity.

We entered there; and far off choristers were heard,

Great orchestras and dulcipes in holy praise;

"Hosanna in the Highest," melodies that stirred The deadened soul released at last from earthly ways.

Thus said my guide; ye linger but a passing hour.

List to each rhapsody and memorize each bar.

Soon shall ye pass along, stranger to song and flower.

Out into darkened space until by sun or star.

And then to Earth return, encased in newformed clay.

To mingle with thy kind and strive to grow in grace;

To begin again the labors of thy day,

Until within Nirvana's halls ye find a place.

To rest with Mendelssohn, Beethoven and Handel,

And Shakespeare; and all they who entered Paradise.

Forever; Death is the way, Life's but a candle.

Lighting dim futile cycles till we pay the price.

Attention of Society Turned Toward Charity Ball to Be Given Oct. 29 for Benefit of Children's Hospital, at Which Committee on Arrangements Has Promised Novel and Elaborate Tableaux.

THE winter season of social activity being fairly launched, the attention of society is drifting towards the Charity Ball which is to be given at Moolah Temple Wednesday evening, Oct. 29, for the benefit of the St. Louis Children's Hospital by the Auxiliary Board of that institution.

Most of the debutantes and the society matrons of St. Louis are quite busy these nice autumn days, working diligently to make this year's affair an unusual success, as last year the young society matrons who compose the Auxiliary Board were too busy in war work to give their time to this annual charity function.

This year a ball is the third affair of its kind to be attempted and promises to be one of the largest social events of the season. The entertainment which precedes the ball has always been unusual, and the committee on arrangements this year promises some novel and elaborate features. The tableaux are being arranged by Mrs. Charles Parsons Petrus and W. V. Schevill. Mrs. Effie Bagwell Culbertson and Mrs. Eugene Williams and James Platt are directing the dancing, and all of this year's debutantes are to take part in one of the special dances. Mrs. John T. Dorn has charge of the boxes and Mrs. Howard O'Fallon and Mrs. Russell Gardner Jr. have charge of the tickets and invitations.

Mrs. Oliver Richards, chairman of the Auxiliary Board, is assisted on the committee of arrangements by Mrs. H. H. Langenburg, Mrs. L. Ray Carter and Mrs. Jack Johnston.

Some of the debutantes who will assist in various ways on that night are Misses Frances Garrison, Lucy Ludington, Mary Plant, Nancy Walker, Muriel Clemens, Elizabeth Mauran, Elizabeth Benoist, Elizabeth Smith, Ada Johnson, Eunice Hougham, Betty Johnson, Alice Ruth, Lionberger, Dorothy Philpot, Erwin Hayward, Peggy Murphy, Prudence Lucas, Josephine Edgar, Helen Battle, Margaret Maxwell, Florence Lambert, Katherine Corlia, Frances Carleton, Henrietta Davis, Doris Drummond, Augusta Cook, Katherine Scott, Ann Hunt, Marjorie Cornet, Mary Harris, Demarie Macbeth and Amy Rule.

ONE of the most notable weddings of the season took place yesterday when Miss Lucille Capen and Peyton T. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peyton T. Carr of 62 Vandeventer place, were married at "Wentworth Terrace," the county home of the bride's parents. The ceremony was solemnized in the living room and the whole house was decorated with greens and baskets of white dahlias. A huge vase of greens and dahlias stood on either side of the altar, which was banked with green and dahlias. The Rev. Dr. John MacIver performed the ceremony at 4 o'clock.

The bride wore a gown of white bridal satin, the skirt was made draped and the surplice bodice had an under bodice of duchess lace. A cascade of lace fell from the waist down one side of the skirt. The sleeves were very short and were finished with pearl trimming. The court train of satin, lined with cloth of silver, was cut low in the back and hung from the shoulders. Across the top was a ruffle of point lace and the bodice had a lace sash. The train was finished in point lace and some finished the train at the bottom. Her veil was of duchess lace combined with rose point and was caught to the head with a tiny band of orange blossoms. Her flowers were a shower of orchids and lilies of the valley.

The Bates School of Dancing has moved its studios to 4525 Olive. —Adv.

Miss Louise Paauk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Paauk of 5374 Delmar boulevard, and Rocco Pidone, son of Mrs. Mary R. Florita of 5800 Enright avenue, were married Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian Church. Dr. Donald MacLeod performed the ceremony in the presence of the immediate families. A wedding supper followed at the home of the bride's parents, after which the couple departed for Chicago on their wedding trip. They will be at home after Nov. 1 at 715 Limit avenue.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Hunt Zelbig, attended her as matron of honor and the bridegroom's sister, Miss Jesse Carr, was maid of honor. The bride's other attendants were Mrs. Charles A. Powell, Miss Nancy Walker and Miss Doris Drummond. They were all gowned alike in frocks of cream colored lace over flesh satin, made long waisted with a tunic overskirt longer on one side. A little bright color was used in the kidlets, which were of turquoise, blue velvet joined at the side and back with two tiny ostrich tips. Their hats were large and were of turquoise blue panne velvet trimmed with a single ostrich tip, which hung over the brim in the back. Long streamers of flesh colored tulles came from the shoulders of the bride and draped around the neck and shoulders. They carried shower bouquets of pale pink roses, tied with turquoise blue tulles.

Kohler Carr attended his brother as best man and the groomsmen were Calvin Gatch, Clifton Scudder, Robert Whittemore and Walker McMillan.

Mrs. Carr is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel D. Capen. She was graduated from Mary Institute in 1916 and has taken a prominent part in the affairs of the debutantes since she is a member of the Junior League and has been active in the work of that organization.

A wedding supper for members of the bridal party was served at the conclusion of the ceremony, after which Mr. Carr and his bride departed for the East on a wedding trip. On their return in November they will be at home temporarily with the bride's parents.

An interesting event of last week was the marriage at St. Michael's and All-Angels' Church of Miss Georgia Lee Berkley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Berkley, 813 Clemens avenue, to John C. Roberts Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John Calvin Roberts of Page and Partridge avenues, which took place Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock. The Rev. George Norton performed the ceremony.

Mr. Carr, a Peak of Fort Worth, Tex., a cousin of the bride, was man of honor and her sole attendant. Miss Harris wore a traveling suit of brown duvetin, trimmed in beaver fur, with hat to match. Her flowers were a corsage of orchids.

Mr. Henry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Henry of Circleville, O., his sister, Mrs. Walter E. Harner, and his brother, Eliot Henry of Columbus, O., and Mrs. Hickok's sister, Mrs. William Henry of Jackson, Miss., were here for the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry will spend their honeymoon in the East and will reside in Chicago.

RELIABLE METHOD OF HAIR CARE

Hair is by far the most conspicuous thing about us and is probably the most easily damaged by bad or careless treatment. If we are very careful in hair washing, we will have virtually no hair troubles. An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair, that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be used at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthox. (Which you can get at any druggist) in a cup of hot water. This gives a full cup of ammonia liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to the hair instead of just the top of the head. This chemically dissolves all impurities and creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After canthox shampoo, arranging the hair is a pleasure.—ADV.

A Simple Way to Reduce Wrinkles

Remember that wrinkles and blemishes of cheek or chin are due to the muscular tissue losing its strength and shrinking. The skin is then too large in area to fit such tissue smoothly. It wrinkles or sags.

To remedy this condition, there's nothing so effective, so quick-acting, as a simple wash lotion easily made at home. Just mix a small amount of the following salve at your drugstore and a half pint of witch hazel, mix the two and bottle your lotion. It is astringent, it tightens the skin and solidifies the underlying tissue, it removes the wrinkles, it smooths out the lines and draws in the sagging skin. It also stimulates circulation. It is a natural color and does not fade or check—ADV.

TURKISH REVOLUTION BLOODLESS ONE FOR AMERICAN MANDATE

rested. A general movement of military forces began all over Anatolia, and conscription orders were sent to the provinces. The Turkish army has ammunition and cannon enough at Erzerum to equip an army for a serious campaign of two years. This was abandoned by the Russians.

LOFTIS BROS. & CO. DIAMONDS WATCHES GRADY AT CUT PRICES national forces began to transport these munitions westward.

The British forces in Anatolia were alarmed because the nationalists had maintained vociferously that the British were bribing the Sultan and the Cabinet and using British troops to keep in power the Government that was selling out the nation. The national forces did not desire bloodshed but they made extensive preparations for it. The trains between Constantinople and Erzerum were permitted to run because of the extensive railroads being driven by the Anatolian Committee at Rethym in the Near East. This work they promised not to delay or impair. None of the Sultan's officials was permitted to travel on these trains beyond Ismid and no foodstuffs went into Constantinople from Anatolia.

The preparations went on but there was no bloodshed in Asia Minor because every soldier and peasant was behind Mustapha Kemal. There was no disorder or brigandage and life continued just as it had before except that every vilayet save Konia, which was under martial law, had to obey orders from the national forces at Silvas instead of the Sultan's Cabinet.

It took 10 days for the actual situation to percolate into the Sultan's head. He can hardly be held responsible because Damad Ferid and his Ministers fled to him in a bare-faced manner. Damad told the Sultan that Kemal was nothing but a brigand and the British reiterated that assertion. Yet the Sultan was afraid. He knew from the persistent warnings of the Crown Prince that the situation was serious and that the Crown Prince himself was allied to the nationalists and a firm supporter of Mustapha Kemal. The Sultan feared for his life. He conjured up visions of the fate of Abdul Hamid and guarded his person accordingly. He ate only food that was cooked before him and when he went to bed at night he double chained the windows and doors and carefully examined his bed for poisoned needles. He never moved without his automobile, which, incidentally, was a German Mause. He appealed wildly to the Sultan for protection and the regiment of British troops was moved into the barracks next to the palace. These British soldiers did sentry duty about the palace day and night, ostensibly to guard the stores in their barracks, but actually to guard the Sultan from his angry soldiers. The Sultan was afraid but he knew less about the situation than his poorest Anatolian peasant.

Demand for U. S. Mandate.

In the background of this nationalist movement is a demand for an American mandate. The leaders haven't much hope of getting one, but that makes their desire all the more keen. A second aim is to preserve liberty and democracy in Turkey and the specific point of protest is the charge that the Sultan is deliberately at the inception of an allied power, violated the constitution. After the armistice the Parliament was dismissed. The Constitution provides that new elections must be called within four months, but elections have not yet been officially called. The leaders of the nationalist movement explain this point of the protest in a memorandum to the American High Commissioner, Rear Admiral Bristol, which reads as follows:

"The Turkish Constitution provides that new elections must be held within four months from the time of the dissolution of Parliament. Successive cabinets following the armistice, immediately after the signature of which Parliament was dismissed, have refused to permit national elections. The act has virtually re-created our Government into an absolute monarchy. The cabinet of Damad Ferid Pasha by its inaction has incurred the hatred of the nation. The cabinet in its general policy of tyranny and oppression has endeavored to provoke the majority of the Moslem element of the country by another Moslem element. We have the documentary proof of this. The nation (the national congress of Silvas) has attempted to define the actual international political situation to the Sultan and has begged him to appoint a cabinet acceptable to the nation, but the cabinet of Damad Ferid Pasha has prevented our establishing contact with the Sultan. In view of these facts and until the formation of the legal Government acceptable to the nation the Turkish nation severally and collectively the Sultan and the present Government. This precaution has saved bloodshed in Anatolia and we believe that this great power will recognize the wisdom of our action. The Turkish representatives at Versailles did not represent the Turkish people and peace with Turkey can only be ratified by Parliament if that peace is made with delegates truly representing the people of Turkey. The Silvas congress, composed of delegates from Roumelia and Anatolia, declared that the movement and the present action of the government do not intend to perpetrate disorders. Peace and tranquillity in the interior will be maintained. The congress hopes for the moral approval of the great powers which have promised justice to the world."

It is believed that it was the French who finally told the Sultan the truth and induced him to desert his British advisers and dismiss his cabinet. Through this effort the French hope to achieve the influence over Mustapha Kemal and eventually usurp the British position as dictators to the Turkish Sultan and his cabinet.

Intrigue and Jealousy.

The correspondent was seven months in the Orient. For several months I have been without communications, mostly due to local conditions and the censorship. Recently I was 21 days from the nearest railroad station. The censorship is the most relentless I have seen during the war. It was absolutely impossible to send truthful newspaper dispatches and American business telegrams were held up by interested parties until the information in them was rendered valueless through lapses of time. The relationship between England, France, Italy and Greece is outwardly peaceable but inwardly is a raging torrent of suspicion, jealousy, intrigue and double-crossing. The Turks have taken matters into their own hands and are determined to escape the fate of Persia and commercial domination by any nation. They are making strong efforts to cast off the yoke of intrigue. For that purpose the best men in the country, a nationalist element at a preliminary conference in Erzerum and secondly at a congress in Silvas. The object of the first was to ask the United States to take a mandate for the whole Ottoman empire. The object of the second was to force a change in the Cabinet and clip the Sultan's wings, which the nationalists urged, tapped on demand of the British Foreign Office.

States accept the mandate for the Ottoman empire. The Sultan opposed the congress largely because the British in Turkey at least, are fighting at every turn any growth of American sentiment. The British are alleged to have attempted to provoke the Kurdish tribes to swoop down upon the congress and sent Maj. Noel to Kharput for this purpose. The Turks intercepted telegrams and deciphered them.

I was the only allied citizen in Silvas except a few American relief workers who do not mix in politics. The congress did not act without first explaining to me and asking what effect I thought the action would have on American sentiment. Their object was not to prejudice the possibility of an American mandate. Gen. M. G. Koenig Pasha is now in control in Turkey.

UNITED STATES FACING GOLD SUPPLY SHORTAGE

Situation Will Be Discussed at Joint Mining Convention in St. Louis Next Month.

The United States is threatened with a serious gold shortage, according to a statement made in the official call of the American Mining Conference which will be held in conjunction with the national convention of the congress in St. Louis Nov. 17-21. The call was mailed yesterday to producers and business men in all sections of the country, urging their attendance.

"The American Mining Congress is convinced that the nation must now be aroused to the serious nature of the threatened failure of the supply, and that this is the psychological hour to obtain the consideration of a practical program of national legislation which will rehabilitate the gold mines of the United States," says a statement embodied in the call.

Impracticable to Change Price.
The necessity of maintaining our gold reserve and at the same time meeting the demands of the trade, is apparent to both producers and financiers, but the impracticability of changing the present price of gold without overturning the present monetary system and affecting international relations is also apparent.

"The trade demands for gold in the United States during the present year, according to the best obtainable statistics, will exceed the total production of gold in this country by $15,000,000, and next year, if the present ratio of decrease in production and increase in demand is maintained, the trade shortage will be $20,000,000.

"The fact that the trade can purchase gold from the Treasury of the United States at the coinage value, thus allowing private profit from a product which is now losing money for the producer, furnishes us with food for serious thought.

Same Condition Everywhere.

The distress of the producers is reflected in all mining communities, and this unsatisfactory condition pertains not only to the United States, but to all other gold-producing sections of the world.

"What is to be done about it? It is for you to decide."

A special pressman, in charge of Harold N. Lawrie, gold economist of the American Mining Congress, is being arranged.

The headquarters of the American Mining Congress will be in the Planters Hotel. Sessions and sectional conventions will be held in both the Planters and the old Southern Hotel, at which place will be given a national exposition of mines and mining in connection with the convention.

Letters signed by Mayor Kiel, and addressed to 1100 Mayors of municipalities in various mining States of the country, were mailed during the past week, urging their presence at the coming convention and exposition.

Association Opposes Higher Fare.

The First District Improvement Association met Friday evening at Washington Hall, 5017 Gravois Avenue, and adopted a resolution against proposing the increased street car fare. Members were urged to attend the public hearings on the proposed city bond issue and to aid it in every way possible. They were especially urged to favor the River des Peres project.

NATIONAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN TO MEET HERE

Organization Will Be in Session Nov. 10 to 15—Speakers to Include Miss Jane Addams.

The National Council of Women of the United States, of which Mrs. Phillip N. Moore is president, will hold its convention in St. Louis, Nov. 10 to 15, inclusive. Mrs. Kate Waller Barrett, Alexandria, Va., is first vice president, and Mrs. Nathaniel E. Harris, Bradford, Pa., is third vice president.

Miss Jane Addams, of Hull House, Chicago, will deliver an address at the memorial service for the late Rev. Anna Howard Shaw. Mrs. Margaretta Neale, associate director, Women's Employment Service, United States Department of Labor, will attend the convention and speak on the employment of women.

The organization has councils throughout the United States and the world. It has 10,000,000 members in the United States and is affiliated with the Y. W. C. A., Women's Republican Association, Women's Suffrage, Women's Peace Party, W. C. T. U., National Congress of Mothers and International Federation of Musical Clubs.

The council has endorsed the League of Nations by the strongest resolution.

The National Council is a member of the International Council, which is comprised of twenty-five councils from various nations. Delegates to the National Council convention select delegates for the International Council, where the women of the world meet to discuss matters of vital importance. The next International Council will be held at Christiania, Norway.

The International Council includes women's councils in every nation, belligerent as well as allies.

The tentative program calls for a board meeting at Hotel Statler at 10 a.m. Nov. 10, a victory sing at 11 a.m. Nov. 11. Gov. Gardner and Mayor Kiel are expected to deliver addresses of welcome. Mrs. Walter Miller, chairman of the local committee, will respond. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt will speak. In the evening there will be a reception at the Statler Hotel. Nov. 12 the Entertainment Committee will arrange for a trip around the city.

Nov. 13, 14 and 15, during the session of the convention, there will be addressed by the following: Mrs. M. B. Rosenberry, Milwaukee, Wis., president Association of Collegiate Alumnae; Mrs. Gertrude S. Martin, Ithaca, N. Y., ex-secretary Association of Collegiate Alumnae; Mrs. Nat S. Brown, St. Louis, president Children of America Loyalty League; Rev. Olympia Brown, Racine, Wis., president Federal Suffrage Association of the United States; Mrs. J. E. ### NEGROES PASS SPURIOUS MONEY

$1 Bills Raised to Resemble $5 Denomination—Two Arrested. After two negroes had passed $1 bills, raised to resemble the $5 denomination, in St. Charles yesterday, John Evans of 2300 Lucas avenue and Rufus Long of Mount, Ill., were arrested on a street car while returning from St. Charles to St. Louis. Long admitted they had passed some of the bills in St. Charles, but said they had been given to him by a white man. In his pockets were found one of the altered bills, $1 genuine $1 bills, bottles of green, black and white ink and a water-color brush. The bills were raised by blocking out the figures and lettering which showed the denomination and painting in other figures and letters. The work was well enough done to escape detection except on close scrutiny.

A New Style Note in

Women's and Misses' Suits and Coats

Garland's fashions voice the latest style achievements of Europe and America. They are sponsored by couturieres holding foremost rank as the world's style authorities. Garland's models have that well-groomed cachet—that certain perfection of fit and nicety of detail that has gained the prestige and style leadership so unquestionably accorded this establishment throughout the Mississippi Valley.

The chic of a Garland tailormade or the graceful swing of a Coat, the unexpected style differences that characterize every model bearing the Garland label, further emphasizes the fact that the woman of discriminating preferences looks to this store to supply the clothes that will accentuate her personality and individual charms.

The Suits

"Individuality," that very human desire, is best gratified by selections from our distinctive showing of Cheruit, Premet, Bernard and Callot Suit modes, modeled in duchesse, satin, peach bloom, kitten s-ear satin and chiffon velvet, with unusual applications of squirrel, skunk, fox, Kolinsky and other beautiful furs.

$495 to $195

Extremely plain tailored styles are very good, as well as dressy models, with trimmings of rich, rare furs. The choice models in this assortment are peach bloom, tinsel, tricotine, duvet superior, rayonair and duvet twill. You are sure to find many Suits to your liking in this most unusual collection.

$149 to $95

The thought of picturesque beauty and mode charm is aptly expressed in these Suits of silvertone, suede, novelty chevron, tricotine, Yalama, duvet superior and gabardine. Many of which are lavishly trimmed in seal, nutria and Australian opossum.

$89.50 to $59.50

Special Suit Values

Presenting an excellent assortment of tailored, semi-tailored and fancy types in Yalama cloth, silvertone, velour, checked velour and suede. Many models handsomely fur trimmed. Suits worth from $49.50 to $59.50.

$39.50

The Coats

Masterful reproductions of Jenny, Cara, Georgette Company and Prevort are included in this group of individual coat modes. Exquisite models developed of silk duchesse, frost glow and Panne velvet, luxuriously trimmed in mole, badger, Kolinsky, flying squirrel, Hudson seal and ringtail.

$535 to $295

The well-groomed woman, the discriminating miss, will appreciate this assemblage which presents at once diversity, artistry of design and inherent refinement. Molded of soft-surfaced textiles, enriched by luxurious furs, embodying the finest workmanship.

$250 to $175

Exquisite, too, are the themes shown in this group, modeled of soft, rich fabrics, emphasizing the smartness of line and the youthfulness of the silhouette. With the rare application of rich furs, they attain the pinnacle of perfection.

$150 to $75

Special Fur Trimmed Coats

As a special offering for Monday we are placing on sale at $35 each, about one hundred and fifty new Winter Coats developed of suede, silvertone, shaggy cloth, cheviot and rough wale, with fur trimmings of opossum, wildcat, Coney and sealine. Coats worth from $45 to $55.

GRAND OPERA PRICES IN CHICAGO INCREASED

Director of Association There Declares, However, Season's Program Is Most Attractive.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 18.—Together with other necessities and luxuries, grand opera is to cost more this winter than ever before in Chicago.

An announcement by the Chicago

Opera Association shows that prices for the company's regular season, which opens Nov. 18, have been increased 20 per cent or more on all classes of seats, the largest advance being for the better seats in the first and second galleries.

In explanation of the raise, the management states that "with every other business" the cost of labor and materials has increased from 50 per cent to 250 per cent, and that enormous quantities of materials, such as canvas, lumber, colors and electrical equipment, are required for the production of 10 weeks of opera.

But on the artistic side no less a personage than Cleofonte Campanini, general director of the Chicago association, declared that "it is undeniable Chicago is the best French opera in the world. If we had to divide honor with the world, Italian Opera," he continued, "it can be said without exaggeration that Chicago is the center of French opera today. Even Frenchmen admit it and declare we have taken the best there away from France."

"La Nave" to Open Season.

The Chicago season will be opened with "La Nave," a lyric drama by Italo Montemezzi, based on a blank verse drama by Gabriele d'Annunzio, the Italian soldier-poet. This has been presented in Italy, but has never before been offered on the American stage. Rosa Raisa, soprano, will sing the leading role of Bastille.

World premiers are to be given two other operas during the season. "The Love for Three Oranges," described as a "Russian novelty" but which is to be sung in French, is the work of Serge Prokofeff, the "revolutionary" Russian composer, while the other innovation, "Rip Van Winkle," is heralded as the first American legendary opera. The score for the latter is by Reginald de Koven, American composer, and the text is by Guy MacKaye, poet-dramatist, known for his creations of masque and pageants.

"Aphrodite," Camille Erlanger's French opera, will be given its American premiere with Mary Garden in the title role which she created. Other French novelties include "Madame Chrysanthème," by André Messager, in which the Japanese prima donna Tamaki Miura, will be heard, and "L'Heure Espagnole," a one-act musical comedy that has been given at the Opera Comique and at Covent Garden.

Of the Italian operas listed, in addition to "La Nave," there are three by Puccini, "Il Tabarro," "Suor Angelica" and "Gianni Schicchi," each of one act, and "Jacquerie," a tragic work by Gino Marinuzzi, the new principal director of the Chicago Opera Company, which has never been given in America.

In the production of ballets of American authorship, as distinct forms of entertainment, the Chicago company claims to be first in the field. Two are contemplated this winter, "The Birthday of the Infant," by the Chicago composer, John Alden Carpenter, and "Boudoir," also by a Chicagoan, Felix Borowski. The former is based on Oscar Wilde's tale.

Singers to Make Debut Here.

Several singers of international fame are to make their American debut on the operatic stage. Among them will be Carlo Galeffi, Italian baritone, and Edward Johnson and Tito Schipa, tenor; Alessandro Baccelli, another Italian tenor, will make his first appearance with the Chicago company, and Thalia Ruffo, the baritone, will return. Evelyn Herbert, a 19-year-old Brooklyn girl "discovered" by Caruso, Nina Mangan, an Italian-American soprano from Buffalo, and Borghild Langgaard, acclaimed as the possessor of "Norway's most glorious voice," will be among the operatic newcomers here. Dorothy Jardon, musical comedy star, who sang Fedora with the Chicago company in New York last year, again will be heard in that and other roles.

Among the other established favorites engaged for the season are: Yvonne Gall, Amelita Galli-Curci and Florence MacBeth, sopranos; Maria Claessens, Cyrena Van Gordon and Anna Pavlova, mezzo-sopranos; Alessandro Sivori, tenor; Fontaine, Forrest Lamont and John O'Sullivan, tenors; Georges Bakst, artist; André Defrêche, Hector Dufranne, Alfred Maguenat and Giacomo Rimanini, basses; and Vittorio Armondi, Gustav Huberdeau, Virgilio Lazzari, Constantin Nicolay and Vittorio Trevisani, bassos.

The regular season of the Chicago company will be followed by one of five weeks in New York, two weeks in Boston and engagements in Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Detroit.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL AUXILIARY TO GIVE THIRD ANNUAL BALL

Affair Will Be Held at Moolah Temple, Oct. 29, for Benefit of Institution.

The Auxiliary Board of the St. Louis Children's Hospital will present its third annual ball at Moolah Temple, Wednesday evening, Oct. 29. The Auxiliary is pledged to assist in the upkeep of the St. Louis Children's Hospital, which has been in existence for 39 years. It is non-sectarian in its management and its benefactions, taking children from birth to 14 years of age for all diseases, including contagious, and is free to those who cannot pay. It has no financial connections with other institutions, has no city or state aid, and is supported by voluntary contributions. Adults as well as children may be treated in private rooms in the department for contagious diseases. A mother who wishes to remain near her sick child may be accommodated in a special section in the same building. In addition to the hospital, a country department is maintained at Ridge Farm, Valley Park.

One of the activities of the hospital besides the care and treatment of children is a course for the training of baby nurses. This course is in no way connected with the State Normal School for nurses. The applicants are received at any time during the year when there are vacancies.

SYMPHONY OPENING AT COLISEUM ON NOV. 9.

Prices for First Concert of Year to Be 15, 25 and 50 Cents, and $1 for Box Seats.

The first concert this year of the Louis Symphony Orchestra will be given at the Coliseum on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 9. Mme. Francesca, prima donna soprano of the Scott Grand Opera, has been engaged as soloist of the special program which Conductor Max Zach is preparing for the opening of the symphony year, and a special scale of admission prices, the cost for which a symphony orchestra has been played in St. Louis. The tickets will be 15, 25 and 50 cents, and box seats at $1. None but box seats will be reserved, it is announced.

The Coliseum has been chosen for the opening concert because the date falls during "music week," and the symphony management desires to make the event a real feature in the elevation of the city's first week of music. Arrangements for the concert will be elaborate and a number of prominent guests. All women will be special guests. A short formal dinner of opening the year will be produced by the orchestra in its new larger form will be a part of the day's program. The orchestra now has 81 members.

Mme. Peralta, the star of the program, will come to St. Louis from Mexico City, where she has been in new grand opera house in that city. She is well known here from previous appearances, both in opera and concert, and in coming for the concert of the symphony year, and the distinction of having opened two successive seasons of the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra. She was the solo artist at the first pair of Friday and Saturday concerts last season.

The season subscription sale for the Friday afternoon and Saturday night concerts to date has passed the $47,000 mark, and is $14,000 in excess of the total of last season. The symphony office has been rushed the last few days filling orders for Friday afternoon concert tickets. The sales for the Saturday night concerts are considerably heavier than those for the Friday afternoon events, due, Mr. Gaines says, to the increased general public interest in the orchestra. The Friday concerts have not fallen off in popularity, he says, but a large part of the new business has been for the Saturday night series.

NOTED LAWYER WHO WILL BE BURIED TODAY

FREDERICK N. JUDSON...

FUNERAL SERVICE
AT ST. PETER'S FOR
F. N. JUDSON TODAY

Lawyer Known Throughout the Nation Succumbs at 74 to Liver and Intestinal Trouble.

Frederick N. Judson, a St. Louis lawyer, with a national reputation, died at 4 a.m. yesterday at his home, 3732 Washington boulevard, and will be buried this afternoon, with services at 2:30 at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, Lindell boulevard and Spring avenue, and interment in Bellefontaine Cemetery. He was a widower and the only surviving member of his immediate family is his daughter, Mrs. Gouverneur Calhoun, with whom he made his home.

Attending physicians diagnosed Judson's ailment as cancer of the liver and intestines. The illness first became apparent in August when he returned to St. Louis from the East, and was then thought he was suffering from pneumonia, polio, or mumps. A month ago he was thought to be well, but for the last two weeks he had been confined to his bed and hope for his recovery had been abandoned.

The honorary pallbearers will be L. H. Lionberger, Judge James A. Seddon, James L. Ford, J. E. Williams Jr., Edwards Whitaker, James A. Waterworth, James E. Allison, A. E. Bostick, Joseph Pulitzer Jr., Benjamin Tarsis, John F. Green and J. Porter Henry. Green and Henry were his law partners.

Born in Georgia 74 Years Ago.

Judson was 74 years old. He was born in Georgia of New England parents and was educated in Yale and in the Washington University Law School. He had been a resident of St. Louis about 50 years. After serving as secretary to Gov. B. Gratz Brown, he was admitted to the bar in 1873. He was president of the Board of Education for two years and director of the law under which the board was organized in 1877.

In the Roosevelt administration Judson served with Judson Green of Cincinnati as an official investigator of the practice of railroad rebating. He was on an arbitration commission in 1912 to settle the wage demands of locomotive engineers on 52 railroads east of Chicago and north of the Ohio river.

He was a member of the Board of Freeholders which framed the present city charter, adopted by a vote of the people in 1914.

Chosen by the Board of Freeholders in 1918 Judson was chosen by the Board of Freeholders to act as his alternate as an employer's representative on the Workmen's Board. Taft virtually withdrew from active work on the board in June, 1918, and Judson thereafter acted as one of the joint chairmen.

Counsel for Post-Dispatch.

The law firm of Judson & Green, more recently Judson, Green & Henry, for many years has been counsel for the Post-Dispatch. Judson once was president of the Pulitzer Publishing Co., which publishes the Post-Dispatch, but his management did not extend beyond the paper's legal affairs. In the case of Joseph Pulitzer, founder of the Post-Dispatch, who died in 1911, a legacy of $50,000 was left to Judson, who later renounced the bequest and claimed commissions amounting to $114,000 for his services as executor. After litigation a compromise was reached by which Judson received $75,000 in commissions in place of the legacy.

Judson was active in behalf of the League of Nations and was opposed to prohibition laws on legal and practical grounds. He had been a lay delegate to several of the triennial general conventions of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Sous Denes Changing Name.
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 18.—Lieut. John Philip Sousa, born in Washington, D. C., and his wife changed the name given him by his parents, he told members of the Cleveland Advertising Club recently where he was an honor guest at a banquet. He means to change his name, reports said to have been circulated by an energetic press agent that the band master's name originally was John Philip So and that when he came to America he added the "usa" to show his patriotism. As a result of this story it is said he has been variously referred to as a Greek, Italian, Frenchman and Spaniard.

PUNISHMENT OF W. U.
HAZERS CONSIDERED

Faculty May Act in Case of Two Juniors Who Led in Episode.

Washington University faculty and student authorities are considering what, if any, action to take against two juniors of the Law School who led a party of 20 upper-men on Oct. 2 in hazing seven freshmen, who resided in the same section of Liggett Hall, shall be punished.

Upperclassmen and some of their friends told a reporter for the Post-Dispatch yesterday what happened.
The principal offense was undressing, among the freshmen. This was done by Orville Brummett of Bellefonte, who was awarded a salty whack for his triumph. Le Roy Perrin of Bellefonte lagged in the race and was touched on his bare skin with a flatiron. This caused him to faint in a second. George Broughton of Hot Springs, Ark., was similarly treated.

but did not get into the prize list.
Several of the contestants were spurred on with paddles. Paul Hitz, ordered to do a shimmy, responded to the satisfaction of his audience and escaped without a whack.

The freshmen outnumber all other classes, causing a problem in the minds of the other men which led to the appearance of a party of pro-authorized body of sophomores known as "vigilantes" to show the freshmen their place. This body has disavowed the undressing race.

However, yesterday it compelled the attendance of all freshmen at the football game and caused them to march to their seats in a body.

It is understood that Freshmen are circulating a petition to the faculty Disciplinary Committee asking that the conductors of the hazing party be pardoned and that some of the hazed freshmen have signed.

CONVENTION FOR
ST. LOUIS NAMED

Mayor Kiel Heads Delegation of Republicans to Attend New York Meeting of National Committee.

BABLER ASKS MEMBERS TO WITHHOLD PLEDGES

National Committee May Sell Convention Tickets This Time, Instead of Asking Bonus From City Chosen.

A committee of active Republican party workers was announced yesterday by Carl V. G. Meyer, president of the St. Louis Convention and Publicity Bureau, to attend the meeting of the Republican National Committee in Washington in December to urge the selection of St. Louis as the place for the next Republican National Convention.

The action was taken after a conference between Meyer, C. F. Hattie, general manager of the bureau; Mayor Kiel and Jacob L. Babler, National Committeeman from Missouri. Babler returned Friday from a meeting of the National Committee in New York, and reported that from talks with individual committeemen he was convinced Louis had a good chance to land the convention.

Babler approved the committee chosen by Meyer, the members of which are: Mayor Kiel, Nathan Frank, Babler, Chairman Aloe of the Board of Aldermen, Chairman Walter L. Cole of the Republican State Committee, Senator Spencer, Congressman Newton, the Tenth District Congressman, and of the Twelfth, Congressman Rhodes of the Thirteenth, Congressman Hayes of the Fourteenth, Congressman McPherson of the Fifteenth, President C. E. Andrews of the Merchants' Exchange, General Secretary Bunn of the Chamber of Commerce, Hattie, Thomas K. Niedringhaus, Edward W. Forstel, Chairman Schnell of the City Committee, E. L. Morse of Excelsior Springs, T. W. Hukriede of Weston, former chairman of the Republican State Committee, and the new president of the Advertising Club of St. Louis, who is to be elected next week.

Asks That Pledges Be Withheld.

Babler said yesterday that the committee did not take up the question of the convention at its New York meeting, but that he talked to many members individually. He said he asked them not to pledge their votes until the committee met formally to consider the matter.

Boosters from Chicago declared they had sufficient pledges to land the convention, Babler said, "but my inquiries did not bear out their claims. For one thing, this convention is not going to be let to the highest bidder."

"It has been customary for Chicago to give the committee $100,000 for the convention, and then the committee would give those donating this sum a large number of tickets. This resulted in greatly advanced hotel rates which the delegates and convention visitors had to pay, and in other abuses. I have been informed that the tickets given by the committee to Chicago in 1916 were sold for $250,000, netting the donors of the $100,000 net a neat $150,000 profit."

"Chairman Hayes is opposed to this sort of thing. He is of the opinion that the convention should go to a city where hotel rates will be reasonable and without cost to the city. It is his idea that it would be much better for the committee itself to sell tickets to the convention, and thus obtain campaign funds in a dignified manner.

St. Louis Suits Chairman.

"He told me that while he would not take any part in the selection of the convention city, he would be highly pleased if the committee should decide on St. Louis."

Babler after returning from the New York meeting sent to each member of the committee a letter in which he wrote:

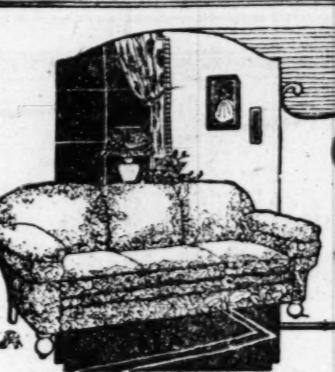

"At the December meeting of the National Committee, we may ask that St. Louis be considered as the place for holding the next Republican National Convention. If we do, we will have a proposition from each of the big St. Louis hotel agreements to specific terms for rooms, and on a basis that I am sure will be of great interest to the members of the committee and their delegations. I hope in the meantime you will not make any decision as to where the convention should be held."

Matters in connection with the selection which are considered advantageous to St. Louis are that Gov. Lowden of Illinois in all probability will be a candidate for the nomination for President, and other candidates will be opposed to having the convention in his State; at other conventions Chicago hotel rates have been boosted during the convention period.

ROOSEVELT FUND CAMPAIGN WILL BEGIN TOMORROW

$80,000 Is Quota Assigned to St. Louis for Subscription in Eight Days of the Movement.

PASTORS WILL PREACH ON ROOSEVELT TODAY

Teachers in All Schools Tomorrow Will Speak of Former President and Receive Subscriptions.

Tomorrow is the first of eight days set apart for St. Louisans to come forward with subscriptions to the $5,000,000 national fund which will be expended for memorials in Oyster Bay and Washington to Theodore Roosevelt. The last day, Oct. 27, is the birthday anniversary of the former President.

A quota of $30,000 has been assigned to St. Louis, and a plan of campaign has been organized. However, we believe that the city will easily limit itself to $80,000 and that the only campaign needed is one to make the deposit of contributions convenient. There will be no urgent solicitation, no tugging on the streets. The desire is for a large number of voluntary small givers instead of a small number of large givers. The committee believes that the city's regard for Roosevelt, often expressed at the polls and otherwise, makes the usual campaign methods unnecessary.

Boxes for the deposit of money will be placed in the business offices of all newspapers and department stores. On two days, representatives of the committee will go about the office buildings, using the opportunity of contributions. Receipts will be issued for contributions of $1 or more. No pledges less than $10 will be taken. Contributions under that amount must be cash.

Pastors to Talk Roosevelt.

Today is Roosevelt day in the churches. Pastors are expected to speak to their Americanists for the campaign is receiving much attention for the dissemination of patriotism and its principles as it is a collection of memorial money.

The remainder of the campaign has been divided as follows:

Monday—School Day—Teachers in all schools will recount briefly some of the things the name of Roosevelt now is recognized to mean and will receive the contributions of school children. Certificates of the National Committee will be sent to each school contributing.

Col. John H. Parker, who fought at Chateau Thierry and who participated with Roosevelt in the Cuban campaign of the Spanish War, will speak to students of McKinley High School.

Tuesday—Industrial Day: This will be the day for the collection of 4000 subscription lists which have been sent to the industrial plants of the city. Each plant with a record for giving of 100 per cent will receive a 12x14 picture of the former President.

On this day, also, the Rough Riders under the leadership of Capt. Robert E. Lee, will appear in downtown buildings to receive contributions. Twenty Junior Chamber of Commerce members will assist the Rough Riders.

Wednesday—Municipal Day: John Schmoll and the Republican City Committee will be in the field on this day. Twenty-five speakers also will begin visiting the railroad shops and yards. It is expected they will speak to 100 groups of railroad men, calling attention to the fact that during his administration, Roosevelt was the sponsor of much legislation of benefit to railroad workers, including the employers' liability act, the safety appliance act, the regulation of railroad hours of labor and the establishment of the Department of Commerce and Labor. Roosevelt seldom started on a journey without forming the acquaintance of his train crew.

Women to Canvas Homes.

Thursday—Woman's Day: Women will appear at homes in every ward in the city on this day, giving opportunity to those who cannot get downtown to be counted in the Memorial lists. Mrs. J. M. Hutchinson, 4021 Flad avenue, is directing this work. The Rough Riders also will appear downtown.

Friday—American Legion Day: Members of the American Legion and of veteran and patriotic organizations of other wars, as well as Junior Chamber of Commerce members will carry the collection boxes on this day.

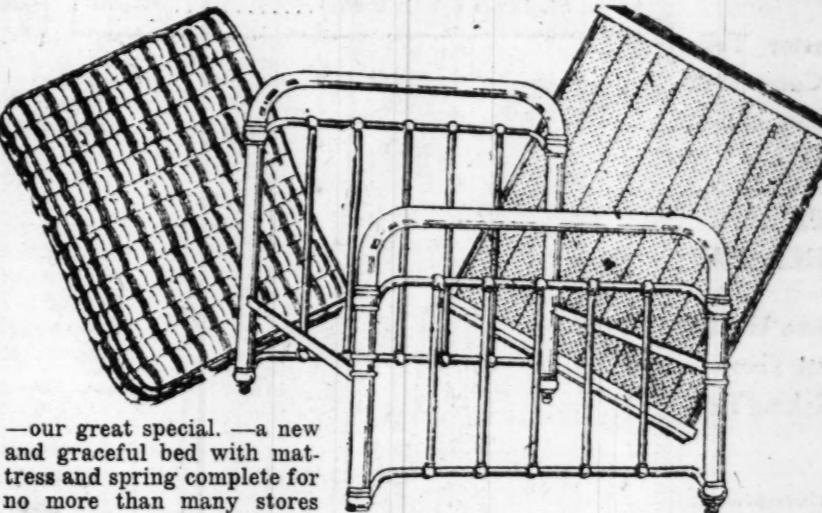

Saturday—Negro Citizen Day: This designation is upon request of the negroes themselves, who on Saturday and Sunday will conduct a tag day among people of their race. The father of Dr. Darlington Weaver, who is secretary of the negro committee, was killed in the charge at San Juan Hill.

Silents in moving picture theaters will call attention to the opportunity afforded admirers of Roosevelt and four-minute speakers will brief the influence of Roosevelt upon patriotism.

The subscription lists of St. Louis will be collected and forwarded to the National Memorial Committee, to be preserved in whatever memorial is built from the contributions.

Beginning Tomorrow—A Sale of 8,000 Pairs of Silk Hosiery

With Lisle Garter Tops

85c

In the New Basement Shops

$1.45

(The regular quality would sell for $1.35.)Arranged on 20 special tables according to sizes and there will be 40 salespeople to serve you promptly.

Tomorrow morning we place on sale 8000 pairs of Women's Silk Hosiery, slightly irregular in the weave, but this in no way interferes with the wearing quality or appearance; and just because of the slight irregularities here and there, we secured them at a big price concession—and we pass the saving along to you.

You will be acting wisely by purchasing a year's supply of these Hose, in view of present market conditions of silk—and then, too, they make splendid Christmas gifts.

The Hose at 85c

Women's semi-fashioned Silk Stockings with lisle garter tops, in colors of white, black, mouse and cloud gray and battleship gray.

We expect a large crowd and we therefore urge you to be here early, so as to be sure to obtain just the colors and sizes you desire.

DE VALERA TO MAKE 4 SPEECHES HERE FRIDAY

Main Appearance of "President of Irish Republic" to Be at Coliseum in Evening.

Eamonn De Valera, "President of the Irish Republic," who has been touring the United States in the interest of the movement to obtain Irish independence, will arrive here Friday to make four addresses explaining the Irish situation. While in the city he will be the guest of the Friends of Irish Freedom.

De Valera will arrive from Springfield, Ill., at 8 a.m. at McKinley Station, with stops at various avens, where he will be met by a reception committee headed by Dr. Emmett Kane. He will then be escorted to the Jefferson Hotel.

His first address will be at 12:15 p.m. before members of the Town Club. He will then proceed to the City Club, where he is scheduled to speak at 1 o'clock. His next address will be at the City Hall before members of the Board of Aldermen, who extended a formal invitation to the Irish leader to visit St. Louis in the course of his tour of the country.

The principal part of the program, however, will take place Friday evening at the Coliseum, where a mass-meeting will be held under the auspices of the Friends of Irish Freedom. Arrangements for this meeting were completed Friday night by the society at St. Mark's Church Hall, Page boulevard and Academy avenue.

It is planned to have about 500 Boy Scouts as ushers and a guard of honor at the Coliseum. De Valera also will be attended by the Knights of Columbus Zouaves, soldiers, sailors and veterans.

De Valera was preceded here by Liam Mellows, member of the "Irish Parliament." Mellows was a leader in the revolution of Easter, 1916. He escaped from Great Britain with a price on his head, and was elected to the provisional "Irish Parliament" after his arrival in the United States.

Cause of Race Riot Sentenced.
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 18.—Maurice Mays, negro, convicted of the murder of Mrs. Bertie Lindsey on the night of Aug. 29, was sentenced today by Judge W. C. Moore to 90 electrocution at Nashville, Nov. 28. Mays was the cause of the race riot here in which the mob wrecked the jail in a search for Mays. Mays has appealed.

ENTRE BUSINESS MEN TO COME HERE NOV. 6

England, France, Belgium and Italy to be Represented in the Delegation Touring Country.

Some of the most influential business men of Great Britain, France, Belgium and Italy will visit St. Louis Nov. 6, after attending the international trade conference to be held in Atlantic City this week. Extensive preparations for welcoming them, and showing them the importance of St. Louis in the industrial world, are being made.

The conference is to promote cooperation among business men of the United States and allied countries, continuing in trade, the national friendships that existed during the war. Another purpose is to

HOT WATER FOR SICK HEADACHES

Tells Why Everyone Should Drink Hot Water With Phosphate in It Before Breakfast.

Headaches are caused by auto-inflammation—water and bowel poisons called toxins, stuck into the blood; excite the heart which pumps the blood so fast that it congests in the smaller arteries and veins of the head, producing violent, throbbing pain and distress—called headache. You become nervous, despondent, sick, feverish and miserable; your mind ajar and almost insatiable; aspirin or the bromine which temporarily relieve but do not rid the blood of these irritants.

A glass of hot water with tea-spoonful of limestone phosphate in it, drained before breakfast will not only wash these poisons from your system and cure you of headache, but will cleanse, purify and refresh the alimentary canal.

Ask your pharmacist for a quarter pound of limestone phosphate. It is inexpensive, harmless as sugar.

If you aren't feeling your best, if you are not well, wake with a headache, foul breath or have colds, indigestion, biliousness, constipation or acid stomach, begin the phosphated hot-water cure to rid your system of toxins and poisons.—ADV.

CITIZENS' BODY BEGINS SCHOOL TAX CAMPAIGN

Headquarters Are Opened in Board of Education Building and Committees Announced.

M. L. Wilkinson will be chairman of the Citizens' School Tax Campaign Committee which will have charge of the campaign for the proposed increase in the school tax rate from 40 cents to 75 cents on each $100 assessed valuation to be voted on at a special election Nov. 11. Judge J. Hugo Grimm will be vice chairman and former Judge Thomas C. Hennings, treasurer.

Headquarters has been opened by the citizens' committee on the sixth floor of the Board of Education Building in charge of Herman Daniels, campaign secretary.

The Executive Committee is composed of Rev. B. F. Abbott, Mrs. Charles Bryson, W. Palmer Clarkson, Flint Garrison, C. E. Goltzman, W. Scott Hancock, Judge Moses Hartmann, Dr. H. S. Hartzell, Miss Jennie Hildenbrandt, Dr. R. Emmett Kane, W. A. Layman, Martin Scherer, Lansing F. Smith, G. W. Strodtman, Mrs. Norman Windsor, Joseph W. Worrell and former Judge William Zachritz.

The chairmen of the various committees are: Finance, W. Frank Carter; publicity, Byron W. Moser; organizations, George E. Dieckman; speakers, Benedict Farrar.

A committee from the Board of Education, and subcommittees of assistant superintendents, principals and teachers in the schools, have agreed to co-operate with the Citizens' Committee and carry out an active campaign in and through the schools.

The Board of Education committee is H. A. Rosskopf, J. C. Tobin, Stephen M. Wagner and Dr. H. C. Wolfson. The committee of school principals to co-operate with the Citizens' Committee is in charge of the War Department.

George Platt Knox, chairman, and Miss L. R. Ernst, vice-chairman. The assistant superintendents who will be chairmen of committees are: High Schools, W. J. S. Bryan; Information, H. J. Gerling; Display, C. G. Rathmann; Elementary Schools, E. George Payne.

The chairman of the subcommittees of principals will be: Printing and Newspapers, P. S. Stevenson; Organization and Endorsements, W. J. See; Speakers, H. H. Edmiston; Finance, B. G. Shackelford.

Oliver F. Richards, vice president of the Merchantile Trust Co., has been made chairman of the Third Red Cross Roll Call, Nov. 2 to 11, for St. Louis. Headquarters for the roll call will be opened in the former rooms of the Third National Bank at Broadway and Olive street. Richards is now preparing a list to be made public shortly of committees of prominent St. Louis bankers, financiers and business men who will serve as the Red Cross campaign personal during the drive.

Richards said that the fact that continual solicitation must be given to the armed soldiers and sailors, and that an organization must be at hand to give first aid in case of national disaster, epidemic, or any problem afflicting the public health, makes it necessary that the Red Cross have a much larger membership than ever before.

Workers are needed for the campaign. Volunteers are requested to leave their names and addresses at headquarters.

St. Louis is expected to provide 200,000 members.

W. U. Radio Aerial Is Repaired. The radio aerial at Washington University has been repaired for practice service. Students must fill a liberty requirement that field, curtailed as a war requirement, has not been maintained by the Government and for the present it can be used only at night during hours prescribed by the War Department.

ESTHONIA SEIZES ALL LAND
Barons' Property Will Be Turned Over to Soldiers.

SPECIAL CABLE TO THE POST-DISPATCH.
REVAL, Esthonia, Oct. 15.—The Esthonian constitutional Assembly has passed a so-called agrarian bill which places in Government control every bit of land within the country's boundaries except property belonging to public institutions. The principal object is to provide a livelihood for the soldiers who fought in the "Esthonian war of independence."

"The seizure includes live-stock, buildings and everything on the farms.

The measure is aimed at the Baltic barons, 60 of whom while under the Czar, owned three-fourths of the land. Fifty thousand former soldiers will receive farms and credits from the Government farm banks to enable them to build houses and cultivate the land until they are on their feet. The Government will compensate the present owners, paying the original prices for the land and premium prices for the live stock.

FREE Trial PLAPAO

The wonder of the age—in use at present by thousands of sufferers. STUART'S AD-

HESIF PLAPAO-PADS were awarded Gold Medal at the St. Louis Fair, 1904.

Made of your mind to be able to throw your old tortuous tress away. Stop undermining your health by using the old PLAPAO-PADS.

Our PLAPAO-PADS are soft as velvet, easy to put on, and cost but little. No straps, buckles or springs required. Send for a sample PLAPAO-PAD today.

We believe in the old adage "never fear to put out your goods on trial." You don't stand alone—only your name and address—to see the PLAPAO CO., Block 1756, St. Louis, Mo.

MEN WHO SERVED IN NAVY GAINED WEIGHT

Eighty Per Cent of First 1000 Demobilized Here Showed Improvement in Health.

Data on the gain in weight and improvement in health of young men who were in the navy, comparing their conditions "before and after" their term of service, has been gathered by Lt. Dr. Baker, ranking medical officer at the local navy recruiting station. Eighty per cent of the first 1000 men demobilized here, who also enlisted here, gained from 5 to 40 pounds in weight, the data shows.

"This proves that life in Uncle Sam's navy is the healthiest of all occupations," said Dr. Baker. "I examined a large percentage of these men in 1917 when they came rushing to the navy, eager for the chance to help sink German submarines.

"At that time it was impossible to make out high physical requirements as had been the practice before the war, and hundreds of men were accepted who were under weight, under height, and so on. It happened I had the pleasure of re-examining many of the same men for discharge after they had gone through the grind.

"That grind made them stand erect, with snap and dash in their eyes, red blood coursing through their veins, and muscles standing out on the chest, arms and thighs that was not there when I first examined them."

The percentage of those gaining in weight was 80.5, of those not changing, 20.6, and of those losing, 6.3. Half of those who lost weight lost it on account of sickness.

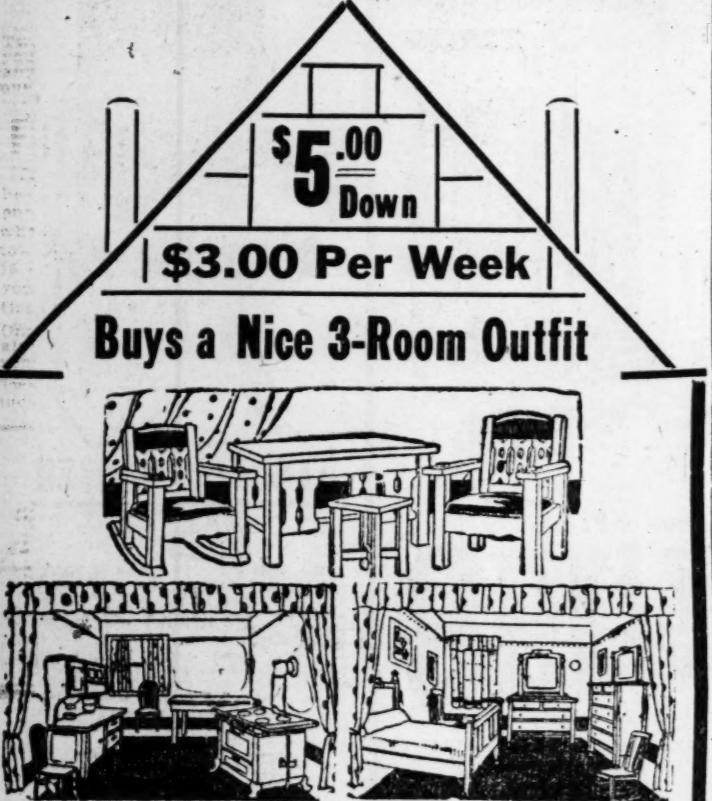

Dr. Baker said that it had been his experience that the Central West, including Missouri, provided the navy with its best class of recruits, physically.

VIOLINIST'S WILL SUSTAINED

The will of Louis Kuehn, disposing of an estate valued at $25,000, was sustained yesterday by a jury in Circuit Judge Landreth's court. It was attacked by three sons, Otto, Edwin and Louis Kuehn, to whom was bequeathed $1000 each, the residue going to their sister, Mrs. Core Richmond, 415A DeBaliviere avenue. Plaintiffs alleged that their father was not of sound and disposing mind when he executed the will about a year before his death, which occurred Oct. 7, 1917, and that he was influenced by his daughter. She denied the allegation.

Kuehn formerly gave lessons on the violin but had lived in retirement about 20 years. According to the sons, he imagined he was losing his property and resorted to extreme thriftiness.

$400,000,000 CONTRIBUTED TO RED CROSS FOR WAR WORK IN 25 FOREIGN COUNTRIES

In 20 Months $273,000,000 Was Spent in the United States and Overseas by Organization Which Had 31,000,000 Members.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—On behalf of the War Council of the American Red Cross, Henry P. Davison, its chairman, today authorized publication of the first installment of the complete report of the activities of the American Red Cross during the war. The first installment is as follows:

The War Council of the American Red Cross is now prepared to make a complete accounting to the American people of money contributed and expended, as well as the work done by the American Red Cross during the period in which the War Council was in control of its affairs. The War Council was appointed May 10, 1917, and went out of existence Feb. 28, 1919.

It was the practice of the War Council to give complete publicity to its policies and finances, but it is only now that a picture of the war period as a whole can be presented. It is the feeling of the War Council that a report in this summarized form should be made directly to the public which provided the money and gave the effort which made the American Red Cross a success.

Immediately the armistice was signed the War Council prepared to turn over the direction of affairs to the Executive Committee as the permanent head of the American Red Cross.

The war work proper, incident to the military effort, was on a large scale long after hostilities ceased, and during long months revelled the conditions about by war, especially in Eastern Europe, the American Red Cross was face to face with obligations of large proportions on behalf of humanity. There was widespread suffering which we alone were in a position to relieve.

A statement of the American Red Cross policies and finances since the War Council relinquished its control will be made to the Executive Committee, and it is important, therefore, that the fact that its report covers the period only until March 1, should be carefully noted.

Twenty Month Revenues and Expenses:

The following table shows the revenues and expenditures of Chapters and National Headquarters combined for the 20 months ending Feb. 28, 1919, round figures being used for simplicity:

REVENUES:

National headquarters.....$203,000,000
Chapters.....137,000,000

Total.....$340,000,000

BALANCE FEB. 28, 1919.....$40,000,000

National headquarters—sustains.....$23,000,000
Chapters.....$20,000,000

Total balance, Feb. 28, 1919.....$127,000,000

In connection with this balance of $127,000,000 on hand on Feb. 28, several things must be borne in mind because this figure gives no indication of the greatly reduced amount which will probably be available eight months later. This is true because the cash in the hands of chapters supplied local needs during the spring and summer; and the supplies in the hands of divisions and overseas commissions represented work undertaken before Feb. 28. On that date they were being utilized as rapidly as possible in completing these old obligations.

The $41,000,000 unappropriated cash then in the hands of headquarters represented the only resource available for the great bulk of the work for which no further financial provision had then been made; the obligations of the Red Cross committed it to continuing service in practically every line of activity, and many of these activities continued to expand for a period; indeed by the very nature of the case expenditures concerned with the return of our soldiers and the caring for the recreational needs of the sick and wounded did not reach their zenith until somewhat later date.

The growth in chapters during the war period was in keeping with the enormous growth in mem' ship. The simple statement that on Feb. 28, 1919, there were 3,724 chapters with 17,180 branches suggests the difficulties encountered in combining the accounts for this mass of units, each of which is largely autonomous in financial affairs.

National Headquarters Financial Operations:

On July 1, 1917, National Headquarters had balances in relief funds aggregating $3,134,004.33. During the 20 months ending Feb. 28, 1919, revenues aggregated $260,002,589.34, producing a total of $263,137,493.67 available for appropriation. From this amount $169,095,111.33 was appropriated, leaving balances in relief funds on Feb. 28, 1919, aggregating $94,042,382.34. This balance, now substantially depleted by appropriations of late since Feb. 28, consisted of relief and sustains $41,339,337.67, and supplies $52,703,044.67.

The general source from which the revenues were obtained and the general classes of work for which the appropriations were made are indicated in the following table:

WINNERS OF PULITZER SCHOLARSHIPS NAMED

New Awards Are Announced and Several Students Who Enlisted Are Reinstated.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—As in so many other interests and activities, the great war thrust itself into the annual awards of the Pulitzer Scholarships Committee.

Besides many graduates who had held Pulitzer scholarships, a number of undergraduate scholars enlisted in the army before the formation of the Students Army Training Corps, and these it was the policy of the Appointing Committee to reinstate upon request. Of five students reinstated in scholarships formerly held, four were men returned from the service. Of these it is interesting to recall that Isador Ginsburg and Oscar Bodansky were the leading students of their respective classes in scholarship. The reinstatements are: Isador Ginsburg, class of '20 (originally '19), $125 and free tuition; Oscar Bodansky, '22, stipend increased from $175 to $250; Harry Richman, '22, stipend increased from $125 to $250; Charles L. Sylvester, '22 (originally '21), $250 and free tuition; Leo Richmon, '21 (originally '20), $250 and free tuition.

New Appointments.

The new appointments are listed in order of merit and standing. Each of these scholars is in receipt, under the will of Joseph Pulitzer and the arrangements of the Pulitzer Scholarship Fund, with Columbia University, of free tuition and a stipend of $250. The stipend is available in any American college of good standing. They are Leon Lifschitz, 1420 Stebbins avenue, Morris High School; Alexander Fried, 2086 Vyse avenue, De Witt Clinton High School; Joseph L. Weiner, 706 Blake avenue, Brooklyn Boys' High School; Morris A. Schapiro, 216 Hazel street, Brooklyn Boys' High School; Charles A. Elmer, 356 Lexington avenue, De Witt Clinton High School; Paul E. Fusco, 102 Heyward street, Brooklyn, Eastern District High School; Arthur S. Schwartz, 81 Lee avenue, Brooklyn, Eastern District High School; Lawrence J. Kane, 3320 Fort Independence street, Stuyvesant High School; Charles Mattice Scholz, 1931 Barnes Avenue, Stuyvesant High School; Charles Mattice Scholz, 1931 Barnes Avenue, Stuyvesant High School.

Because of the burdensome cost of living the committee voted the following increased allowances to students already pursuing their studies with the help of the fund:

In Columbia University, with free tuition, Earl M. Simonson, class '20, stipend increased from $150 to $250; Alexander Greenberg, '20, stipend increased from $100 to $250; Moses Davis, '20, stipend increased from $100 to $250; Albert Prelzman, '22, for ensuing year only, $125.

In Cornell University, Hyman Klein, class of '20, stipend increased from $150 to $250.

Physical Condition Better.

As in recent years, the physical condition of the candidates was excellent as compared with 15 years ago. Height, weight, chest expansion and the condition of eyes and teeth show the value of closer attention to health in the public schools. As to scholarship, the honor list was much shorter than in recent years, owing no doubt to the war and the many business opportunities open to high school graduates.

FUNDS DESIRED FOR 1920 WORK

St. Louis Provident Association to Begin Campaign Dec. 1.

The annual campaign for funds for the work of the St. Louis Provident Association in 1920 will be held during the week beginning Dec. 1. The Board of Religious Organizations, of which Mrs. Louis J. Brooks is president, will assist again this year and have charge of the Women's Division.

The constant upward trend of the cost of labor and supplies will make it necessary to provide a larger sum for the work this coming year.

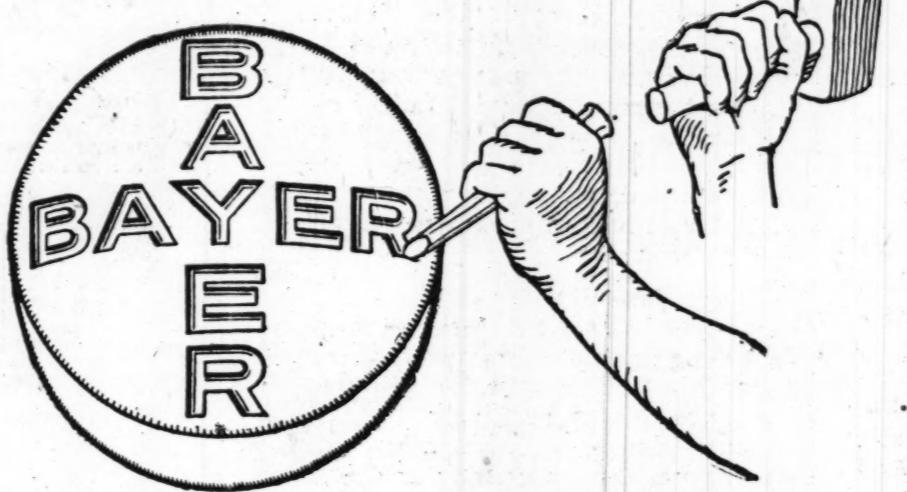

Engineers to Meet Here in 1920.

The fifteenth annual meeting of the American Society of Sanitary Engineering will be held in St. Louis in September, 1920. The society embraces experts on sanitation and inspectors of plumbing. One of the chief objects of the society is to install public comfort stations in all cities where the society is represented. Matters of public conveniences are to be discussed at this conference and definite plans made to serve the public.

Detroit Jewel Hot Blast Heater

If you intend to purchase a Heating Stove, you will find the Detroit Jewel Hot Blast has features lacking in many heaters of this type, which makes it by far the best investment for fuel economy, easy operation and all-around satisfaction.

Burns Any Fuel

Shortage of any kind or class of fuel need not worry you because this Heater burns soft coal, hard coal, coke or wood. To meet the present fuel situation, and high fuel costs, no Heater is so desirable.

Produces Wonderful Results With Soft Coal

The Hot Blast Tube of this Heater feeds warm air over the fire to mix with the large volume of gases liberated from soft coal and slack causing them to burn, thus largely eliminating smoke and soot. Not only does this feature insure fuel economy, but makes it possible to use "cheap fuel" with satisfaction and convenience. Thousands of homes are being satisfactorily heated with soft coal at a cost of a few cents per day. Don't lose sight of this fact when deciding the kind of heater you should buy.

Call on the Local Dealer and See This Improved Hot Blast Heater

Every dealer selling the Detroit Jewel Hot Blast Heater will be glad to show and explain its features and advantages. Investigation will convince you that it is the most attractive, powerful and durable heating stove ever offered at a reasonable price. Buy this heater and burn soft coal and you can reduce your heating cost fully one-third.

DontSend a Penny*MASEFIELD DRAMA IS HIT OF BUSIEST WEEK

Eight New Offerings on Broadway, with Irvin Cobb Comedy as Runner-Up.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Plays, plays, and then more plays—that was the program of the week in and about Broadway. The total output was eight new offerings, two of them comedies, with Julia Marlowe and E. H. Sothern anchoring the bill. The measure is a revival of "Hamlet."

The list of novelties was as follows: "The Faithful," a Japanese legend, by John Masefield, the English dramatist and poet; "Boys Will Be Boys," a dramatization of a story by Irvin S. Cobb; "The Little Whopper," a musical comedy, by Otto Harbach and Rudolf Friml; "His Honor, Abe Potash," another Montague Glass comedy, this time with Mawruss Perlman missing from the cast;

"Five O'Clock," a play by Frank Benson; "The Tides," a drama, for being the author of "Lightnin'."

"The Luck of the Navy," a melodrama imported from England;

"Nothing but Love," a musical comedy by Frank Stammers and Harold Orlob; and "A Young Man's Fancy," a fantastic comedy concerning a wealthy recluse who falls in love with a wax dummy in a department store window.

But first must be recorded the benefit performance given Sunday night, at the Century Theatre, by some 25 stars, asteroids and satellites of the theatrical firmament, who remained outside the Actors' Equity Association during the recent theater war. The performance was in the interest of the Actors' Fidelity League, for the purpose of filling the void caused by its great renunciation—to wit, its noble rejection of the justly famous $100,000 check offered to the league by George M. Cohan.

The receipts were estimated at $30,000.

George M. Cohan.

The performers appeared in fragments of the roles in which they first bounded to fame, or at least to recognition, and the list was as follows:

Juila Arthur in "The Lady of Quality"; Florence Nash in "Within the Law"; Bessie McCoy Davis as "The Yama Yama Girl"; Holbrook Blinn in the "Duchess of Danzig"; Grace George in "Divorcons"; Thomas E. Shea in "The Bells"; Ralph Herz in "The Soul Kiss"; Amelia Bingham in "The Climbers"; Mary Ryan in "On Trial"; Louis Mann in "The Telephone Girl"; Mabel Normand in "Medea"; Burns Mcintosh in "Trilby"; Blinn in "Jewels"; Fay Painter in "The Kiss Busters"; Henry Miller in "The Tale of Two Cities"; Blanche Bates in "The Darling of the Gods"; Edna Wallace Hopper in "Florence"; Lenore Ulric and Willard Mack in "Tiger Rose"; Ruth Chatterton in "Daddy Long Legs"; Frances Starr in "The Rose of the Rancho"; Ina Claire in "The Quaker Girl"; Otis Skinner in "Mister Antonio"; Mrs. Fiske in "Tess of the D'Urbervilles"; George M. Cohan in "Little Johnny Jones"; and Henry Miller and Ruth Chatterton in "The Only Way."

In addition there were numerous other parts on the bill, including Maurice and Miss Walton, Nora Bates, Irving Berlin and Cohan and Willie Collier in a specially written number.

Dunsany and Drinkwater There.

The second season of the Theater Guild, which has to its everlasting credit St. John Ervine's powerful Irish drama,

"John Ferguson," was launched Monday night at the Garrick with a pretentious, appreciative and in many respects satisfying production of "The Faithful." This is the three-act Masefield drama, in prose, which was first published some four years ago and which was once almost produced by Winthrop Ames.

There was an uncommonly distinguished audience present, including Lord Dunsany and John Drinkwater, author of "Abraham Lincoln."

Masefield's tragedy reworks a legend of ancient vengeance, of a sworn and kept by men who must forfeit all they have and are to keep it. Asano, the gentle and beloved lord of a pleasant valley in Japan, has, as his covetous and contemptuous enemy, one Kira, a jackal of mean birth, whom they all knew when he was a boy snatching with dogs at the broken meat of a feast, but who, by intrigue, is risen now to a threatening overlordship of all that province. Asano is willing to go out into the wilderness with what he believes, but he is tricked to his death.

Then, patiently, faithfully, his followers do their task of avenging him, killing Kira at last at the zenith of his power, though they must profane a sacred place in the killing and must themselves pay the death penalty in consequence. As their last hour strikes, the leader of the avenging band speaks the final speech of the play:

"You trumpeters, who call the faithful to death in all the armies of the world, blow a long point—

That long, the ramparts of God may hear us coming.

Baring our hearts to the sword. For him we loved so.

All this is set forth in a spirited and imaginative text that flashes at times into moments of such genuine poetic beauty as are Masefield's own.

Judge Priest on the Stage.

Out of the world of humor in Irvin Cobb's "Buck Home" stories, the best known of which is "Boys Will Be Boys," a wonderful blood purifier. You are most sure to be well pleased with this, and for it at once. Believe you me, I have given it to many sufferers who have been greatly relieved.

It also relieves Sciatic Neuralgia, as well as Neuralgia of the head, and relieves you very soon. It does just a few seconds, easily and quickly. Just try it! You can get a few drops at any drug store, sections which are quite well known, and no odor to it, no irritation or any discomfort. It could even be used on the skin, and you can see for yourself. I have given this to many sufferers who have been greatly relieved.

Difficult to Keep Your Hair Wavy? Read This

If you have not yet tried the new way, the silmerine way, by all means do so.

You'll never again use the rubber heated iron. The cushion will not be so feetly natural and the hair will be so beautifully lustrous, instead of dried and parched.

Thus liquid silmerine serves also as a beneficial dressing for the hair.

It is neither sticky nor greasy, but quite smooth and elastic.

Apply a few drops to the hair at night with a clean toothbrush, drawing the latter through the hair from root to tip.

The hair will have the liveliest curl and waves imaginable in the morning.

It can be washed no matter how you do it up.

A few ounces of the liquid from your druggist will last a long time—ADVIS.

To Mothers

The Guardians of Children's Teeth

All Statements Approved by High Dental Authorities

You Must End the Film To Save Them

Millions of mothers know that children's teeth decay and discolor, despite the daily brushing. So do adults' teeth. But saving children's teeth is of supreme importance.

The trouble lies in a film—in that ever-present, slimy film. It clings to the teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary tooth paste does not dissolve it. The tooth brush leaves much of it intact. And that film causes most of our tooth troubles.

That film is what discolors—not the teeth. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Science Finds a Way

Dentists know the danger of this film. They call it "bacterial plaque." Dental science has for years sought a way to end it.

That way has now been found. Convincing tests made by able authorities have amply proved its efficiency. Now it is embodied for home use in a dentifrice called Pepsodent. And the makers supply a 10-Day Tube free to any one who asks.

Ten Days Will Tell

Pepsodent is based on pepson, the digestant of albumin. The film is albuminous matter. The object of Pepsodent is to dissolve it, then to constantly combat it.

Pepson was not used before because it must be activated. And the usual agent is an acid harmful to the teeth. But science has discovered a harmless activating method. And now this ideal film destroyer can be constantly applied.

Send us this coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the slimy film. See how the teeth whiten—the children's teeth or your teeth—as the fixed film disappears.

Then you will know that Pepsodent does what was never done before. No mother who once does this will return to old-time methods. For the children's sake cut out the coupon now.

THREE BOOKS TELL OF ROOSEVELT'S CAREER

Thayer's Biography, Lawrence Abbott's "Impressions" and Guide's Story.

The approaching campaign for the Roosevelt Memorial gives timeliness to the appearance of three books on the life of Theodore Roosevelt. Two of these are written by literary men who followed Roosevelt through his public career. William Roscoe Thayer, author of the most pretentious of the books, was a classmate of Roosevelt in Harvard. Lawrence F. Abbott, whose book is of less formal character, relates that he formed the Roosevelt habit early. The third of the books is a tale of Roosevelt's outdoor life, by Bill Sevall, who was Roosevelt's guide in the Main Woods and who was later his companion in his ranching life in Dakota—there was a North or South Dakota at that time.

The books, in the order mentioned, are analyzed herewith by a Post-Dispatch reviewer.

THAYER'S BIOGRAPHY.

WILLIAM ROSCOE THAYER, in his "Intimate Biography of Theodore Roosevelt," rightly emphasizes the importance of the work which Col. Roosevelt did, at the beginning of the European war, in arousing Americans to this country's true situation. One need not accept this biographer's conclusions regarding President Wilson—on whom history has not yet passed final judgment—in order to endorse this utterance as to Roosevelt.

"During four years, he was the one voice of the United States that could not be silenced. He was listened to everywhere. Men might agree with him or not, but they listened to him, and they trusted him. Never for a moment did they suspect that he was slyly working for the enemy, or for special interests here or abroad. He, the supreme American spoke for America, for the civilization which he believed America fulfilled. His heart was wracked by the humiliation into which the honor of the United States had been dragged. The greatest patriotic service which he could perform was to lift it out of that slough, and he did."

Some interesting and very human little boyhood writings of Roosevelt are in the first chapter. In Paris he wrote, "I stayed in the house all day, varying the day with brushing my hair, washing my hands and thinking, in fact, having a very dull time."

In Vienna with his sister, he records: "We went to another church, in which Conde jumped over tombstones, spanked me, banged Ellie's head, etc."

Roosevelt's work as legislator, police commissioner, civil service commissioner and Assistant Secretary of the Navy, his Spanish war experience, the governorship, vice presidency and presidency are recounted in their familiar sequence. The ranching episode of his early life also receives attention.

Panama "Blackmail."

Thayer discusses the Panama Canal incident at length, characterizing the Colombian politicians who forced the accomplishment as the "Bogota blackmailers." He says: "Roosevelt always regarded with equal satisfaction the decision by which the Canal was achieved, and the high needs of civilization and the protection of the United States were attended to. He lived long enough to condemn the proposal of some of our morbidly conscientious people, hypnotized by the same crafty old Colombians, to pay Colombia a gratuity five times greater than that which Gen. Reyes would have demanded in 1903."

"Upon his return from the wilderness stole away 19 years of his life," the writer says, in recounting the really serious condition which developed in Roosevelt's South American Journey, and its after-effect. He relates that Roosevelt, sick with fever, "secretly determined to shoot himself unless a change for the better in his condition came soon." The chief purpose of such an act, it should be further explained, would have been the relief of the others in the expedition, who, through the delay which he caused, were in danger of death from starvation.

The biographer offers an extended explanation in the nature of an apology, as to Roosevelt's action in supporting Blaine for President in 1884. The author's dislike for Blaine leads him to make the assertion that Blaine made no important contribution to American history. Blaine, as Secretary of State, was the father of this nation's modern Pan-American policy, and this contribution alone was a greater one than some Presidents have made. The egotism of which Blaine is here accused is not manifest in his admirable historical work, in the beautiful eulogy on Garfield, in which the first personal pronoun does not occur (Houghton Mifflin).

ABBOTT'S "IMPRESSIONS."

LAWRENCE F. ABBOTT of The Outlook has written "Impressions of Theodore Roosevelt," as the record of an acquaintance of 22 years, the last half of which was on intimate terms. Col. Roosevelt became contributing editor of The Outlook after his retirement from the presidency.

Abbott's book does not profess to be a biography, and does not follow the sequence of a biography at all times. The selection and arrangement of matter are admirable. The chapters on "Statesmanship" and "Foreign Affairs" are a summary of acts of most marked effect in the White House, before entering it, and after leaving it. The view that Roosevelt, by his work as Assistant Secretary of the Navy, made possible the naval victories of the Spanish-American War, is not a new one, and Abbott presents it incidentally in writing of Roosevelt's later action, as President, in sending the Fleet around the world.

The writer attaches great importance to two of the speeches made by Col. Roosevelt on his return from his hunting in Africa. One was the Guild Hall speech in London, in which he endorsed British rule in Egypt, which was then, as now, being opposed by a nationalist party.

In a previous speech at Cairo, he had condemned most unspareingly the assassination of Boutros Pasha, Prime Minister, committed by an agent of the Nationalists. Roosevelt's words at this time, the author believes, strengthened the British position in Egypt immediately before the European War. Without this strengthening, he thinks it possible that Turkey might have captured the Suez Canal early in the war.

The other speech of prime importance was that of the Sorbonne.

Formamint is recommended by the leading throat specialists—do you know why?

IT is because, long before you ever heard of Formamint, it was submitted to the leading specialists of the world for trial in the great hospitals and for examination by experts on bacteria.

Not until a verdict was rendered of its extraordinary germ-killing power, of its harmlessness to body tissues, and of its welcome superiority to the awkward gargles, was Formamint brought directly to you.

This scientific endorsement of Formamint accounts for the confident tone of our announcements. We are firmly convinced of the value of Formamint and we welcome with pleasure, but without surprise, the daily receipt of enthusiastic testimony from people who are getting such fine results from using Formamint in mouth and throat troubles and as a preventive against infection.

Formamint combines a powerful germ-destroying agent in the form of a delicious tablet, which melts in the mouth fluids and bathes the sore parts in a soothing and healing solution.

Break Your Chains Be Strong and Well

Why drag along through life—half-sick, weak and tired out all the time? You can be strong and well—full of energy and vitality—glowing with health, and thrilled with the joy of life. You can enjoy life.

Rich, healthy blood makes the whole body healthy.

Nature intended that everyone should be strong and well, and there is no mystery about Nature's laws.

REOLO Makes Rich Red Blood

If the supply of oxygen is not sufficient, the engine runs down, vital force wanes, the fire goes out and the whole machinery of the body stops. When the blood is vitalized with oxygen, the complicated structure of the cells of the body is broken down, and the energy liberated which serves to drive the human engine.

REOLO acts on the blood, and by constantly cleansing and revitalizing it converts the blood into a vigilant guard against the insidious attacks of disease. It assists every natural force in the body. It makes it possible for the blood to build up what the stress of daily activity, over-work, over-exertion and overtaxing of the Oxygen is the life giver—necessary to maintain life. REOLO absorbs the oxygen from the air in the lungs and carries it into the blood—rapidly oxidizing or revitalizing the red blood cells—and increasing the amount of hemoglobin in the blood, sending through the entire body a stream of rich, vitalized, health-giving blood that nourishes every cell of the nerves, tissues, brain and bones.

body tears down. Waste products are cast out—new cells grow—the hollow cheeks fill out and take on the ruddy glow of health. The spring comes back to the step, the whole body tingles with health and vitality—and the brain is cleared to meet the battle with the problems of life.

By special arrangement with the Dr. A. L. ### SEASONAL COAL RATES URGED BY RAIL OFFICIAL

Plan Estimated to Save Public $125,000,000 a Year and Stabilize Work of Mines.

Establishment of seasonal coal rates and the consequent stabilization of the coal industry is offered as a solution to the threatened coal strike by Eugene McAuliffe, manager of the Fuel Conservation Section of the United States Railroad Administration, in a pamphlet just issued analyzing the local situation.

By McAuliffe's plan the miners would work 300 8-hour days a year, the public would save $125,000,000 a year on the 25 per cent reduction in the selling price and there would be no coal-car shortage during the fall months, as at present.

He quotes the sworn statement of Edgar Wallace, representing the United Mine Workers of America, before the Senate Sub-Committee on Interstate Commerce, that the miners were demanding a six-hour day "not" because they are dissatisfied with the number of hours they have to work, but because of the fact that they desire an equalization of the work, not only between mines, which is a subject of discontent, but the different times of the year."

Miners' Work Irregular.

McAuliffe also said "Some of the miners work five days a week, others only one, and about four months of the year (September, October, November and December) they are called upon to put out all of their efforts, and the rest of the time it is a matter of indifference as to what they do or what becomes of them."

McAuliffe, who is president of the Union Colliery Co., said that his miners at Dowellville, lost 23 per cent of their time because of car-shortage last month. Other mines, he said, lost as high as 50 per cent. He estimated that his mines would lose about 23 per cent of their time this month for the same reason. Until the middle of July there were more cars than could be used by the mines.

"There are enough cars in the country to handle the 500,000,000 tons of coal mined annually, if the demand" could be stabilized," McAuliffe told a Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday. "The public is afraid to buy during the winter months when there is an over-production and as a result people are paying 75 cents a ton more for coal now than they would have had to pay in June. If seasonal freight rates were established, the public would be certain that the price of coal would increase in the fall and would order coal in the summer."

He cited the example of the anthracite operators who educated the public into buying coal early. These dealers several years ago reduced the price 50 cents a ton in April and increased 10 cents a ton more than the regular price was reached in September.

McAuliffe said under the present unstable conditions there was some justification for the miners' demand for a 6-hour day and 5-day week. He said the unskilled labor was getting between $4.75 and $5 a day but was working a varying number of days a week. Should the industry be stabilized so the men could work 8 hours a day, 6 days week, there would be no need for the 50 per cent increase in wages.

Source: McAuliffe Plan. There is no reason, McAuliffe said, why seasonal rates should not be established as they are already in effect in some localities, particularly in the rates to the Louisiana sugar territory. Under private ownership there were seasonal rates from the Eastern docks to the Western wheat territory.

He suggested that the rates be made by railway traffic men. Until three years ago he was general coal agent of the Frisco railroad.

"Our present freight rates from the Illinois fields to St. Louis are between 92 cents and $1.67 per ton. These rates could be lowered in the summer months and raised in the fall and winter so that the railroads would not lose revenue in the long run."

The National Coal Association has given its approval of the plan, McAuliffe said, as have 200 railroad executives. He has mailed the pamphlet to miners' unions but has not heard from them.

He is the way to put the plan into operation would be for the Senate Sub-Committee on Interstate Commerce to recommend it to the Railway Administration. He has written about the plan to the chairman of the committee.

Dandruffy Scalps Ruin the Hair and Make It Fall Out

Parisian Sage Keeps the Scalp Clean, Quickly Stops All Itching and Stimulates New Hair to Grow or Nothing to Pay.

See the Bald Spot—That Shows What Dandruff Can Do

If you have dandruff you must get rid of it quickly—it's positively dangerous and will surely ruin your hair if you don't.

Dandruff means mean faded, brittle, sere hair, hair that is thin and when you are hairless and nothing can help you.

The only way to abolish dandruff for good is to destroy the germ that causes it. To do this quickly, safely and at little cost, use Parisian sage (liquid form) and follow the simple directions for home use. It is guaranteed to have the dandruff gone before scalp and falling hair and promote new life.

It costs only 25 cents a bottle.

Parisian sage is a scientific preparation, delicately perfumed liquid, neither sticky or greasy, easy to apply, and good looking hair is half the battle in any man's or woman's personal appearance.

No matter what your hair troubles try a Parisian sage massage night—you will not be disappointed.—ADV.

Timely Hints for the Car Owner.

Removing Wheel Hub Washer. The job of removing the wheel hub washer of the front wheel is often an almost impossible job, but it can be made easy by the use of a simple tool that can be made by any car owner. Take a pair of round-jawed pliers five or six inches long. File a notch on the inside of each jaw near the end and then reduce the diameter of the jaws until they will just slip into the holes in the ends of the split washer. With this weapon it is easy to remove the washer. Simply hook the ends of the pliers in the holes, close the pliers to contract the washer so that it may be drawn out of the groove, when it is easy to slip it out by running a screwdriver point around the edge.

Lubricating Shock Bolts. Shock bolts or spring bolts may be made self-lubricating by drilling six or eight 3-16-inch holes in a new bushing and packing them with graphite. The holes must be packed back in once in six months.

Cotter Pin Puller. A very convenient cotter pin puller may be made by bending the end of a piece of wire in the form of a buttonhook. On the other end a T-shaped handle is riveted. An additional convenience is to drill a piece of one-inch round stock and place it on the body of the puller for use as a sort of sliding hammer. A series of taps with this hammer on the end of the puller will loosen the recalcitrant cotter pin.

Inception Window. An ingenious car owner who had had trouble because of stoppage in the oil tube which runs from the transmission case of the Ford to the engine inserted in the transmission case a small mica window, about two inches in diameter. The window is secured by a steel ring 1-32 of an inch in thickness and this ring is held by round head screws. A felt gasket is placed between the mica and the transmission cover and the upper side of the mica is varnished with shellac.

Clutch Trouble. Clutch trouble is one of the commonest complaints among car owners. The clutch throwout collar needs daily lubrication, and in many cars failure to give it even for a single day, may mean clutch trouble. Give the clutch the lubrication it needs.

Proper Lubrication. The term proper lubrication has no very exact meaning for the average car owner and yet it can be defined exactly. It means the quality of oil needed by the individual part, supplied in the proper quantity, neither too little nor too much, and changed with sufficient frequency to keep it in condition to function properly. This latter condition carries with it the implication that the crank case or other parts should be flushed out with kerosene before the oil is put in. From all this it will be seen that the car owner must devote some study to the particular needs of his particular vehicle in order to master the lubrication needs of the car.

Piston Ring Guide. A steel ring just the diameter of the cylinder bore at one end and tapered at the other until it is just large enough to slip over the piston ring makes it easy to get a piston back in its cylinder, obviating, as it does, scratching of the rings.

A cow's squeak may often be traced to a speedometer shaft which needs lubrication. The shaft should be repacked with vaseline or a very soft grease, and the operation should be carried out at once, because if the shaft is permitted to run unlubricated for more than a short time, breakage will very possibly result.

IF KIDNEYS FEEL LIKE LEAD OR YOUR BACK HURTS, TAKE SALTS

We eat too much meat, which clogs kidneys, and they need a flushing occasionally.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which clogs the kidneys, and when you get sick, nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts, or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then be fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations. It is a diuretic, stimulates the kidneys to activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot be a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which all regular meat eaters should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications—ADV.

Doctor Tells How to Detect Harmful Effects of Tobacco Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York: Doctor Cooley formerly of John Hopkins Hospital says: Many men who smoke, chew or snuff incessantly and who are generally healthy suffer from progressive neuralgia. Thousands of them would never know they had it if they would never the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon as well if they would only stop the use of tobacco. Nicotine is the active principle of tobacco; nicotine, a deadly poison, which, working by the nervous system, affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. Its effect on the nervous system varies and depends on circumstances. One of the most common causes of nervousness, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, etc., is tobacco. It causes a lack of will power, mental confusion, etc. It causes a loss of memory, easy bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness or even insanity. Nicotine is a powerful poison to the tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form, you can tell before the harmful effects by making the following simple tests. Read aloud one full page from a newspaper. If you can't, your voice becomes muffled, hoarse and you can't get it out. If you can't clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh, and you are likely to have tuberculosis. Next, in the morning before you get up, take a few puffs of tobacco smoke, walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then

If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. You feel as though you must smoke or snuff to quiet your nerves, you are a slave to tobacco, you are compelled to continually pollute yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have the tobacco habit. Nicotine is a powerful self-poisoning process irrespective of the amount of tobacco used. It will give up the habit and escape the dangers. You can overcome the craving and stop the use of tobacco by using the following inexpensive formula:

Q.—Would it be lawful for me to turn my registration number plates and certificates back to the State Department for cancellation, and let the new owner apply for a new registration?

A.—No. There is no provision for re-registering a motor vehicle two or more times during the current year, hence, the reason for indorsing and delivery of certificate to the new owner. It therefore follows that the plates corresponding to the certificates shall remain on the car.

Q.—What is the cost of making the transfer and who pays the fee?

A.—The fee for making the transfer is 50 cents, and the law specifies that the buyer shall make the payment.

Q.—Does the law make any mention as to the fee a Notary Public is to charge for witnessing the indorsement of the certificate of registration?

A.—Yes. It specifically states that the officer is to receive a fee of 25 cents.

Q.—If the law requiring the transfer and indorsement of certificate of registration is not complied with, what is the penalty?

A.—The State law says, "Any sale or transfer of such motor vehicle without complying with these provi-

Q.—How much time is allowed to make the report of the sale of a registered motor vehicle?

A.—Five days.

ST. LOUIS WAGON FIRM NOW BUILDS TRUCK

Add Motor Truck Department
After 50 Years of Building Horse-Drawn Vehicles.

Having manufactured a number of horse-drawn transportation vehicles in St. Louis for more than 50 years the Lueninghaus & Espenschied Wagon Co., 1717 North Broadway, have started the manufacture of motor trucks. It was announced last week, in keeping with the stride that has been made in recent years in motor vehicle transportation.

The truck will be of two ton capacity and will be known as the "Lueninghaus." It will cost $490. f. o. b. St. Louis and will be assembled at the present plant which has been enlarged to accommodate the new department. Trucks of other capacities are to be built later.

G. T. Michael, secretary of the company, said the inauguration of the motor truck department would not interfere with the production of the farm wagons and various other kinds of horse-drawn vehicles with which the company has so long been identified. Because of an enormous demand that is general for farm wagons and the like throughout the country production of them will be increased, he said.

The Lueninghaus truck will be assembled in St. Louis and will be built of standard parts used by many of the makers of heavy duty trucks and tractors.

A demonstrator was built for test purposes more than three months ago. Loaded with 1000 pounds, 7000 pounds were hauled long distances, one trip being to DeSoto and return to detect any weak points in the construction that might be strengthened. Michael said. The power plant is a four cylindered Waukesha motor. A governor built in with the motor is self lubricating and regulates the speed to sixteen miles per hour.

The frame is of pressed steel. The wheelbase is 145 inches. Wheels are of artillery type, second growth Hickory. Seats, fenders and emergency brakes are internal, expanding on rear wheels. The transmission is of forward and reverse. The rear axle is worm gear drive; semi-floating type. Bodies will be built at the plant to the customers' specifications.

The output within several weeks is scheduled to be three to five trucks a day.

Questions and Answers

Q.—In notifying the Secretary of State of the change in ownership, is it necessary to return the certificate of registration?

A.—Yes, the certificate of registration should be returned, and a notation will be made on it to the effect that the transfer has been noted on the record. After this notation is stamped on the certificate, it will be returned to the new owner.

Q.—Is there any arrangement whereby I can use the registration numbers (tags) from my old machine on another car?

A.—No. In case of sale of a registered vehicle the tags remain with the machine. It is the vehicle that is registered with the State Department, not the owner.

Q.—If I trade my machine in on a new car with a dealer, is it necessary to make this transfer just the same as if I were selling to a private individual?

A.—Yes. This law applies to dealers as well as individuals. Dealers shall complete transfer of all registered vehicles passing through their hands, whether by purchase or otherwise.

Q.—Would it be lawful for me to turn my registration number plates and certificates back to the State Department for cancellation, and let the new owner apply for a new registration?

A.—No. There is no provision for re-registering a motor vehicle two or more times during the current year, hence, the reason for indorsing and delivery of certificate to the new owner. It therefore follows that the plates corresponding to the certificates shall remain on the car.

Q.—What is the cost of making the transfer and who pays the fee?

A Delicious Treat for the Family

Five Minutes From Package to Plate

Sample Roxane Cake Flour

For 5c in stamps, to cover delivery, we will send you a sample of Roxane Cake Flour, enough to make the finest cake you ever saw.

We want you to know what wonderful, golden melting pancakes you can make with this extra nourishing prepared flour. And how quickly and easily—5 minutes from package to plate.

We have authorized Roxane dealers to give each family one full sized 15c package of Roxane Pancake Flour for 8c and the coupon below for two days only, Oct. 20th and 21st. Only one package to a family. We will pay the dealer the other 7c this is our treat.

One taste of Roxane pancakes means Roxane Pancake Flour forever after for you—and for everyone else. After one taste you will understand why people want pancakes so much oftener when they know Roxane. So this special sale is a good investment for us. We KNOW it means new users—and everyone permanent.

The WHOLE WHEAT'S the Thing

WHOLE WHEAT'S the food that makes rugged muscles, ruddy cheeks and ready wits!

It has proteins, vitamines and minerals. These are the elements the body needs. They should be served constantly—as every doctor knows.

They make overflowing vigor—abounding energy.

Roxane WHOLE WHEAT Blend Pancake Flour has all these vital strength-building elements.

Roxane are the most nourishing pancakes. They are the most digestible because the mineral salts and bran of the WHOLE WHEAT aid digestion.

Your family should have Roxane pancakes frequently.

Only WHOLE WHEAT Pancake Flour

Roxane is the only prepared pancake flour we know that has the WHOLE WHEAT.

In most flours 75 per cent of the essential strength-giving elements of the wheat is lost in the milling. Roxane retains all. No other pancake flour does. Roxane is the most nourishing made.

The secret Roxane blend makes the wonderful flavor of Roxane Pancakes. Corn and rice flours are blended with the foundation of WHOLE WHEAT. Thus a melting lightness and tenderness, a delicious delicacy, are given to the golden brown nut-like richness of the WHOLE WHEAT.

$50,000 EXTRA for Better Flour

We could save $50,000 in this one season by using a cheaper grade of wheat flour for Roxane.

The color of Roxane shows its quality. The WHOLE WHEAT blend pancake flour is darker because of its richness. You can tell it by its color—rich, creamy flour with tiny red flakes of health-giving bran intermingled.

Roxane is THE most expensive pancake flour to make—the finest you can get! But it sells for no more than others and actually for less than some.

We even make the baking powder that goes into Roxane ourselves—to be absolutely certain of every ingredient. Roxane is never touched by hands—yours will be the first.

A MEANS WHEREBY THE LIFE OF A CAR MAY BE PROLONGED

Harsh Application of Brakes, Quick Engagement of Clutch and Lack of Lubrication Are Most Harmful Practices.

Gears are without doubt the hardest working parts of an automobile and perhaps the most maltreated by the new driver.

Often a little consideration for them would do much toward increasing the period of a car's serviceability. Because of their being encased the task is a tedious one to inspect gears properly, but the slightest trouble may in most cases be detected by abnormal noises.

Transmission or axle gears, though mounted in a housing, will, even when in good condition, emit a slight hum, if it is almost impossible to operate two gears in mesh without them giving some slight noise.

The noises that gears make when they are not operating properly are at once detected by the driver of the car because there usually is a severe stress in the sound, a long howl or some noise which is quite different in character from that given off by two properly fitted gears. So far as the engine is concerned the front end or timing gears usually run quietly for long periods, but when wear sets in, when bearings wear endwise and force the gears out of proper mesh, or when chips of foreign metal get between the gears there is an immediate increase in noise until it becomes a nuisance. Much of the engine noise is due to these timing gears, the tappets being secondary. The unfortunate thing is that when the timing gears do become noisy one cannot come upon the cause of the trouble without examining the gears. They are noisy, the driver says, and the only way really to find out why is to take off the timing case cover, look at the gears, feel for backlash and end play, and then either put in a whole set or a non-metal gear. It is possible often to get a quiet front end by replacing the timing gear with a metal gear for a metal one. Where all metal gears are demanded it is necessary to match the gears. Usually one new metal gear in the train will be noisy.

Timing Gears Neglected.

For some reason or other the average driver will put up with a noisy set of timing gears, whereas he demands quiet in the transmission and rear axle. There is a sound reason for this also, because the gear set and axle gears do more work under severe conditions. All gears, whether in the transmission, engine or axle, are designed to operate in this way, the only exception being only and not deviate from that setting. They must run always in a bath of oil. Should one gear run out of oil, that is, is wabbie even the slightest bit, the tooth pressure will be greater and there will be more noise. The intermittent howl heard from an axle or transmission is due to the alternation of this high stress. One second it is relieved, the next it is severe again. Every time the gear wobbles you might say there is a pinching of teeth—they press too much against each other.

In the transmission there are two or three or more shafts mounted on bearings in the gears, some of which ride on a shaft. When the transmission is new these shafts and gears are so fitted that the gears will run in one true circle all the time. Any change in the position of the shaft or any change in the gear or its teeth will upset the true running of the gear, and the result will be more noise. On all speeds but high you hear more noise as a result of the higher tooth pressure, but that noise or hum in well-fitted gears and well-mounted shafts is a steady noise for any given speed. In abnormal operation there may be a rattling noise which indicates something were loose in the transmission. The sound instead of being a steady hum is a series of howls varying with intensity while the car moves along at the same speed. These noises may be caused by lack of proper lubrication, badly worn teeth, gears shifted slightly out of true positions (cocked over a trifle), high spots on the gears caused by a soft tooth which has worn down quickly, or by foreign matter getting between the teeth; worn shaft bearings, bent shafts, chipped gear teeth.

Saves Expense.
A transmission may operate for thousands of miles with any of the above faults, but it is always less expensive to attend to any trouble at the beginning. For example, shaft bearings when worn badly allow the whole shaft to sway, throwing all the gears on that and the adjacent shafts out of proper mesh. The result is that the gears wear unevenly. The condition existing for some time may call for practically a new transmission. Especially where bearings are adjusted should advantage be taken of the feature and the shafts be kept in proper alignment.

Rear axles of today are none too good as a whole, but they will give better and longer service if the driving pinion is properly engaged. Quick engagement of the clutch, heavy overloads, even though for an instant, harsh application of brakes on rough roads, lack of lubrication are some of the causes of worn pinion and differential bearings and worn gears. The average car has an adjustable driving pinion and differential unit. When new these bevel gears operate so that the gears mesh in one certain way. If a bearing wears and allows the pinion to change its mesh, or if the differential bearings wear and allow the whole unit to shift over away from the original position, there is bound to be noise produced and noise of an unpleasant character. The bearings, if they are of the ball type with ball separators or cages, may show a breaking down of the cage. Pieces of the cage fall between the gear teeth, chipping them and causing more noise. The bearings themselves then allow more freedom of movement of the differential pinion. It is absolutely necessary that the two gears retain a fixed position, and as soon as there is an unusual noise from the axle the driver can say with certainty that the gears are not running so that there is solid contact between the teeth.

Where the pinion is keyed to the end of the propeller shaft there often is wear in the keyed keyway. This will allow the pinion rotational freedom and will be heard in the form of a loud click on starting the car or stopping. Usually when pulling this play will not be heard.

ST. LOUIS MOTOR CO. TO HAVE NEW HOME

Work Starts on $160,000 Structure to Have Mural Decorations Like Theater.

Work has already started on the new home of the St. Louis Motor Car Company at the northwest corner of Leffingwell avenue and Locust street, which is contemplated to have one of the most attractive showrooms, if not the most attractive, in the city, according to John Boe, president.

The building is to be a four-story fireproof structure of concrete, brick and steel construction with full basement and will cost $160,000. It will have 90-foot frontage on Locust street and 120 feet on Leffingwell avenue.

The basement will contain a repair shop and service station for motorists seeking minor repairs. An accessible driveway for motorists will lead to the basement from the alley in rear of the building.

The first floor will be occupied by a salesroom and offices. Mural decorations for the showroom are to be adapted from those of the Rialto Theater, President Boe said. Frank C. Cornett is architect of the building.

The second floor will house the car department, the third floor will be used as a general repair shop and the fourth floor will be used for storage purposes.

The building is expected to be completed during January when the firm will move from its present location, 3128 Locust street.

Eugene Altheimer represented the St. Louis Motor Car Co. in the transaction, and the Anderson-Stocke-Buermann Realty Co. the property owners.

FIRST RENAULT CARS HERE IN FIVE YEARS

For the first time since the world was created over five years ago the Renault Selling Branch has a new Renault model on view at their salesroom, 719 Fifth avenue New York.

They are showing 12-18 and 18-30 monobloc motors with silent single unit S. E. V. starting system attached to the crankcase in the front of the motor where the dynamo is easily accessible.

The first shipment of cars arrived last week from Bellancourt, France, and the complete cars are shown with bodies executed by Felber, of Paris, or else were built in the Renault factory.

nounced last week that he had appointed LeRoy V. Jones to succeed
E. O. Stagg as wholesale sales manager for the distribution of Chandler and Cleveland cars.Stagg has resigned to take effect Nov. 1 to enter the automobile business for himself as Chandler and Cleveland distributor in Alton, where he will be associated with Don A.
Burrus, industrial manager of the Illinois Terminal at Alton. Stagg has developed a wide acquaintance in the automobile trade of St. Louis, having been connected with the St. Louis
Motor Car Co., Jordan, Mitchell and Saxon distributors.Jones, in point of service, is one of the oldest automobile salesmen in the city, having been territorial manager for the Cadillac Automobile Co. of St. Louis for four years, later becoming connected with the St. Louis is expected that Judge Anthony Ittner of City Court No. 1 and P. J.

Schilling of the office of the Secretary of State will be speakers. The club has arranged for a downtown office at 1122 Olive street with the Lippman Co.S. W. Ramsey, vice president of the Southwest Nash Company, stated last week that he had obtained a long-term lease on the premises at 2217 Locust street, now occupied by the Weber Motor Car Company, local Weberbaker distributors, to be used as a used car saleroom and service station for Nash owners as soon as the Weber company moves into its new building at the northeast corner of Nineteenth and Locust streets.The new structure, which is being built by the Weber Implement and the Weber Implement and Automobile Co. will occupy the western portion of the building, with a front on both Nineteenth and Locust streets. The Weber Motor Car Co. will occupy the eastern portion of the building fronting on Locust street.R. E. Olds, president of the Reo Motor Car Co., was in St. Louis last week to visit the Kardell Motor Car Co., the local Reo distributor. While here he inspected the plant of the Kardell Truck and Tractor Co.

6900 South Broadway. From here he returned to the factory, having completed an extensive tour of the West visiting Reo distributors.L. H. Amrine, manager of the Scudder Motor Truck Co., distributor of Service trucks in this territory, was visited last week by W.

manufacture a cord tire with a mileage guarantee of 6000 miles, according to Mrs. N. E. Love, manager of the Wearwell Tire Store, Twelfth and Chestnut streets, distributors of the Wilson products in this territory.The Parco Inner Tire Sales Co. has located at 1907 Locust street, to handle the Parco inner tire, a sponge rubber substitute for air-filled inner tubes. Charles J. Jenkins and C.
Hasenpflug are the managers.The Reconstructed Tire Co., for many years in business at 3442-44 Lindell avenue, have changed the firm name to that of the Harry Frank Tire Co. They do a wholesale and retail business, carrying in stock both first and second class tires of well known brands.MAN WORKS 25 YEARS FOR SAME COMPANYThe Cadillac Automobile Co. believes in retaining its trained workmen, from a record that has been compiled by R. M. Givins, president of the company.It shows that there is at least one workman whose continuous employment under Cadillac auspices antec-dates the beginning of the company itself. He is an inspector who has followed the same line of work, with the Cadillac and its predecessor, for 25 years.

Five other workmen have been associated with the same interests for 18 to 23 years, and a man who is now general foreman has had 23 years continuous employment. A recent canvass of the shops revealed the fact that 142 superintendents, department heads and others had record of employment ranging from five to 10 years.

"Built of the Best"

A SEDAN AFTER YOUR OWN HEART

IF you seek maximum comfort at moderate cost—lines of distinctive grace and beauty—roominess without excess weight, then you will find the new Davis five-passenger all-season sedan a car after your own heart. The body is a lustrous dark blue, with durable silk velour upholstery in harmonizing colors. Four wide-opening doors, duplex head-lamps, rain-vision windshield and windows that lower into the body are some of the appreciated conveniences.
